Cubans Brusquely Tell The U.S. To Revise Its Views

Note Deals Tartly With Relations

HAVANA (AP) — In a brusque conterattack, the Castro regime Friday told the United States to "reconsider and revise its policy and its attitude toward the government and people of Cuba."

The government's note to Washington dealt tartly and directly with the worsening of Cuban-American relations, a subject largely avoided by Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a tired and visibly haggard Thursday night TV appearance.

The note again accused the United States of harboring so-called Cuban war criminals and rejected U.S. charges that deliberate and concerted efforts are being made here to damage friendly relations.

Reply To Notes

An 18-page document handed to U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal replied to notes of Oct. 27 and Nov. 9 in which the United States charged the Cuban government was attempting to replace traditional friendship with distrust and hostility.

"The revolutionary government definitely rejects" the charge that such an effort exists, the note said.

U.S. reference to the danger of communism is "the same old song record unpacked and dusted once again. The Cuban revolution does not fear ghosts," the note said. It added that Cuba wants to live in peace and harmony with the United States and wants to increase diplomatic and economic relations, "but on a basis of mutual respect and reciprocal benefits."

Can Be Accomplished

This can be accomplished, it said, if the "transitory interests of a relatively small group of North American citizens are no longer considered and treated as the permanent interests of a majority" and "counterrevolutionary are definitely stopped and North Americans who instigate and support those criminal activities against Cuba are no longer approved."

Prime Minister Castro had been expected to deal with Cuba's relations with the United States in a three-hour-plus television appearance ending early Friday. But the broadcast failed to deal with so many questions and was so disappointing that even some of his most ardent followers called it a flop and he was expected to make a return TV appearance soon.

Woman, 60, Wants To Race Down Road Again

LONDON (UPI)—Gray-haired, 60-year-old Mrs. Hilda Lee said Friday she could hardly wait to get "baby" out of the repair shop so she could whistle down that "divine" new super highway again.

"Baby" is a $14,879 sports car that cartwheeled off the highway with Mrs. Lee in it this week when she got it up to 145 miles an hour.

She was yanked out almost unhurt but the car, a Mercedes SL-300, suffered somewhat in its four end-over-end somersaults.

"I'll be back on that darling road again just as soon as my baby, which has a ruptured back and won't drink its gas properly, gets better," said Mrs. Lee.

"Oh, I know that car goes. I always knew it could."

Doctored Oils Bring Paralysis To Moroccans

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—About 10,000 Moroccans have suffered partial paralysis after using cooking oil adulterated with a machine oil from surplus U.S. supplies, the Moroccan Health Ministry announced Friday.

The situation has been officially proclaimed a national calamity, barely a month before President Eisenhower arrives here for a visit.

Twenty-seven Moroccan merchants have been arrested, charged with selling adulterated olive and peanut oils during a Moslem festival in September. They are liable to a death sentence under an emergency law proclaimed last week.

The oil used in the mixture is described as a mineral-type sold as machine oil from U.S. Air Force surpluses at Nouasseur, near Casablanca.

The oil is intended for use in flushing airplane engines. It is about the color of olive oil.

No legal action was planned against the Air Force.

The Air Force, however, is sending four truckloads of food, clothing and medicine for distribution among the victims at Meknes, where the outbreak was first noted. The Moroccan government has appropriated funds for relief.

No cure has been found.

No new cases have been reported in the last four days. Strict controls and a publicity campaign have turned up about 800 tons of U.S. oil.

Artist Plans Nude Exhibits

MADRID (UPI)—Pretty American artist Joan Markson Saturday will unveil nine nude self-portraits painted from her reflection in a mirror.

Miss Markson, who signs her work "Giovanella," won critical acclaim in Madrid three years ago with an exhibition of paintings of nude bullfighters.

The artist is the daughter of Oscar Markson, a retired New York businessman and art collector who said he saw nothing wrong in his daughter posing in the nude.

"Never before in the history of art has a woman painter had both the talent and the body to turn out great nude self-portraits," he said proudly.

Spanish officials are touchy about nude art, but it seemed unlikely any action would be taken against Miss Markson.

Diesel, No Engineer Aboard, Runs Away, Is Caught 22 Miles Away

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — It's back to the switch yards for diesel engine no. 1706 after a fling on the main line without an engineer.

No. 1706 took off with no one at the controls Thursday night over one of the busiest networks of tracks in the nation, serving the industrial complex of New York City.

Quick-thinking trainmen corralled the runaway but not before it had rambled 22 miles from its starting point.

The Jersey Central road's no. 1706's adventure began about 10:28 p.m. est while it was standing in the freight yards waiting for a fresh crew. Its handbrake was on and its throttle was in neutral.

Its engine was running, and only an engineer should have been able to set the 123-ton, 600-horsepower diesel in motion. Apparently, however, other forces were at work.

Something stirred the throbbing machinery into life. Perhaps a vibration did it, the railroad said.

With a grinding rumble, it bolted westward through a maze of freight yard trackage and began picking up speed.

Dispatcher John P. Messenger Jr., decided against derailing the engine and began switching operations to send the runaway diesel south along the Jersey shore where traffic was light.

Several freight trains were sidetracked and word was flashed to every dispatcher and signal tower along the Jersey coast.

Messenger said his one big concern was making certain that the Newark Bay drawbridge remained closed. The bridge was the scene of a major disaster Sept. 15, 1958 when a commuter train plunged through the open bridge into the bay with a loss of 48 lives.

The train crossed the bridge without incident and proceeded into some of the densest industrial and railroading territory in the east at a 40-mile-an-hour clip.

The job of collaring the high-riding runaway fell to Engineer Chester Gudmunson, 58. He had a fireman and a brakeman aboard as they hurried south to intercept the runaway. Their diesel was of the same class as no. 1706.

The plan was simple: They would be switched onto the track in front of the runaway and reduce speed for a gentle coupling.

The two engines made contact near Morgan, a small Raritan Bay community south of South Amboy.

"It gave us quite a jar," Gudmunson said.

Harold Johns, of Linden, the fireman, hopped off the locomotive and into the cab of the runaway where he shut off the throttle.

Glacial Storm Is Spreading

By The Associated Press

A glacial storm that stunned Montana with massive snowdrifts and 40-below temperatures spread south and east Friday, cutting autumn short from Texas to New York State.

Its high winds ran south over the Plains in a sweeping cold wave. It fanned snow over the Midwest and the Great Lakes. South of the snow, from the northern Ohio Valley through Missouri and into Oklahoma, it glazed streets and highways with ice from freezing rain, drizzle and sleet.

At least 16 deaths were attributed to the snow and cold.

Montana's snow measured up to 2 feet. Thermometers registered as low as 42 below zero at Butte and 40 below at Drummond. Nowhere in the State Friday did the mercury get above zero.

Ahead of the gusty north winds, the Weather Bureau posted cold wave warnings for eastern Nebraska, western Missouri and northwestern Arkansas Friday nd for north central and southwestern Texas Saturday. Temperatures in the 20s reached into northern Texas Friday.

The cold was expected to penetrate the Appalachians in the East Saturday, bringing rain and sleet.

Giant Africa Tribe Fleeing Former Slaves

KIGALI, Ruanda-Urundi (AP)—Hundreds of Watusis, a tribe of giants, were fleeing Friday from the all-out attack of their former slaves, the smaller but more numerous Bahutus in this African trust territory.

Belgian forces said some had taken refuge with their wives and children in towns and Roman Catholic missions, and that others had crossed into Uganda, a British trust territory to the north.

Fearing a famine because so many farmers are leaving their burned-out huts, the Belgian commander had thousands of leaflets scattered, calling on everybody to remain at work in the fields. Ruanda, scene of most of the trouble, has had famines and near-famines in the past because the poor land is overpopulated.

All Ruanda has been placed under military control, but there was little that the 1,500 exhausted troops flown in from the Congo and two companies of Belgian paratroopers could do to check the bands of Bahutus.

They roamed the hills, setting fire to Watusi huts, slashing their cattle, chopping down banana trees and coffee plants and then disappearing into the forests. Often old folks are left in the huts to burn.

Hundreds of huts and villages have been burned and many acres of plantations damaged. About 600 Africans have been arrested for arson in the last three days. Among those arrested were seven tribal chiefs.

Fatalities now total more than 200. No major clashes have been reported since the troops intervened three weeks ago, but authorities feared the proud Watusis would go on the warpath in revenge the moment the troops are withdrawn.

Belgium has governed the U.N. trust territory through the kings and chiefs of the Watusis, who have dominated the Bahutus for centuries. Belgian influence has gradually ended slavery.

In the twin trust territories of Ruanda-Urundi about 4 million of the 4,600,000 population are Bahutus.

A group of Watusis, calling themselves the Union Nationale Ruandaise, has been holding political rallies demanding immediate independence. Bahutus, fearing independence would restore domination by the Watusis, have formed an opposition group called the Aprosoma party.

Drinking Habits In Teens Set Pattern Through Life

DETROIT (AP)—Your drinking habits as a teen-ager set the pattern of your drinking throughout life, including old age.

That's the finding from the first extensive research of the alcoholic drinking of people 60 years or older reported here Friday by a St. Louis sociologist.

Dr. David J. Pittman of the Washington University School of Medicine told of his research at the 13th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Of the group studied, Pittman found that about 20 per cent did not drink. But, he added: "There is a higher percentage of abstention in the 60 years and over age bracket than there is in (today's) younger age bracket of 20-30."

This, he said, results because "in the period 1900-1930, women were not only exhorted not to drink but they were the leaders in the crusade against alcohol sales. Since the repeal of Prohibition, American attitudes toward drinking have become more permissive."

Of the oldsters who drink, Pittman reported, their use of alcohol varies widely, ranging from moderates to alcoholics.

Of the moderate and excessive drinkers, Pittman found the marity began drinking between 16 and 20 and a good share had started between 12 and 16. Most of the older people who drink excessively began between 12 and 16.

Pittman drew from the research the conclusion, "If a person has not drunk before 25, it is not likely that he will begin."

The older people surveyed by Pittman came from all economic levels of society, ranging from retired business executives to laborers, from those with little schooling to those with advanced degrees.

Hearne Case Lifted From Jury Probe

Dublin Promises Aid To Deal With Irish Envoy's Son

WASHINGTON (AP)—The case of the Irish ambassador's son was lifted from a coroner's jury Friday to international diplomatic levels.

State Department officials said the Dublin government has promised to cooperate in working out some solution of the problems created by 21-year-old David Patrick Hearne.

The latest problem, following a series of fights with Washington policemen, is the traffic accident death of Jossie Hamlin, 50.

Mrs. Hamlin, a widowed Negro who worked as a domestic, was struck and killed by an automobile Wednesday night while crossing a street. The auto was driven by the son of Ambassador John J. Hearne. The son claimed diplomatic immunity from arrest.

Possible Solution

One possible solution which U.S. officials discussed with newsmen in a speculative way would be along these lines:

1. Ambassador Hearne might offer to make some financial arrangement in compensation to the victim's family.

2. Young Hearne, a college student here, would be sent to school in Ireland.

Assurance of Irish government cooperation was given to U. S. Ambassador Scott McLeod at Dublin. The State Department press office at first reported that McLeod had raised the issue on instructions from this government. Later, however, the press offce sad it was Ambassador Hearne who raised the question, and his government then gave its pledge of cooperation.

Apparently because of complications it might cause later in some other parts of the world, there was no disposition here to ask young Hearne to leave this country. However, a clear expectation was evident that he would be leaving soon.

Here Since 1950

Ambassador Hearne has been stationed in this country with his family since 1950.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald convened a six-man jury to inquire into the traffic fatality but dropped the case abruptly after being informed young Hearne was covered by diplomatic immunity.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Maurice Dunie told reporters it would be meaningless for the coroner's jury to continue with a case in which it lacked jurisdiction.

Young Hearne, looking composed and solemn, attended the brief session with a lawyer. Hearne was quoted by police as saying after the accident that he struck Mrs. Hamilin while trying to avoid another pedestrian.

Police said the Envoy's son has figured in three disorderly incidents in the last 2½ years. In each case he was released under diplomatic immunity.

Roger Touhy Given Parole After 25 Years

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—In a few days, Roger Touhy, 61, will achieve his ambition of 25 years. He'll leave prison.

He was granted a parole Friday. Touhy, a Chicago beer baron during the Prohibition Era, has spent most of the last quarter century serving time for the 1933 kidnaping of a one-time confidence man, John Jake the Barber Factor.

Touhy has insisted that he was put away on the basis of perjured testimony.

He schemed for freedom and he sued for it. He got out for 83 days of dodging as a hunted fugitive in 1942 when he joined six other prisoners in a break over Stateville's 32-foot concrete wall. He was captured and put back.

He made it outside again in 1954 but only for 47 hours—from the time a U. S. district court approved his release until it was overruled on an appeal.

One of six sons of a Chicago policeman, Touhy grew up unruly. With some of his brothers, including Tommy (The Terrible), he muscled his way to domination of a small beer-selling empire on Chicago's Northwest Side during prohibition.

Roger, too, was called "The Terrible" as co-leader of the gang.

After repeal, the Touhy mob turned to other means of livelihood. They were ranked good suspects in kidnap-ransom cases. It was while winning acquittal on charges of carrying out the $100,000 ransom kidnap of William Hamm Jr. in St. Paul, Minn., on Nov. 28, 1933, that Roger Touhy was pointed out by Factor.

Factor said that Touhy was one of the men who snatched him outside a roadhouse near Chicago and held him until $70,000 ransom was paid.

Friday, Touhy kept to himself in Stateville, and declined a visit from newsmen and photographers.

Factor, now in the real estate business in Beverly Hills, Calif., had this comment on Touhy's parole: "If the parole board feels he has rehabilitated himself, I certainly see no reason why he shouldn't be released."

Former GI Who Changed Sex Is Wed In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A wall of silence arose Friday around a former soldier who is now a bride.

She is Mrs. Ralph M. Heidal but until five years ago, she was Charles Earnest McLeod. Then she decided to change her sex, and went to Denmark for an operation.

At home, in Dyersburg, Tenn., she explained, she was treated "neither as a male or female — more as a nonentity. I was miserable—and I wanted to die."

Today, Charlotte — as she now calls herself—wants to live, fully and in private.

"All we want is just a chance to be happy," she said in a copyrighted story in the Miami Herald.

Newsmen who tried to visit the couple at their tiny apartment Friday were turned away.

The Baptist minister who performed the marriage ceremony Oct. 11 was shocked.

"I'm going to call my doctor and get some tranquilizers," said the Rev. A. H. Stainback. "I wonder what the deacons will say."

Stainback said the couple had attended church faithfully since last summer and when they came to be married he had no reason to believe there was anything unusual.

The marriage apparently broke no Florida laws. State Atty. Richard Gerstein said he knows of no statute that would make it a crime.

Christine Jorgenson, who gained worldwide attention after a similar operation, was credited by Mrs. Heidal with leading her to decide on Denmark and the surgery which altered her sex.

Of the operation, Mrs. Heidal said: "All I have done is merely correct a mistake. My psyche has always thought, felt and reacted like a woman."

The first operation to produce the sex change took place on a kitchen table in Copenhagen in violation of a 1953 Danish law which restricted such surgery to Scandinavians.

"The operation almost killed me," she said. After months of hormone injections and plastic surgery in hospitals, she returned to this country.

Seaborg To Get AEC Fermi Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, nuclear scientist and chancellor of the University of California, was chosen Friday to receive the Atomic Energy Commission's $50,000 Enrico Fermi award for 1959.

AEC Chairman John A. McClone announced that Dr. Seaborg, 47, was honored for discoveries of plutonium and several additional elements and for leadership in the development of nuclear chemistry and atomic energy."

The award is in memory of the late Enrico Fermi, who, with associated scientists, operated the world's first atomic reactor at the University of Chicago.

Allen Dulles Says Claims Propaganda

CIA Head Believes U.S. Lead Will Be Narrowed By 1970

WASHINGTON (AP)—The top U. S. intelligence specialist Allen W. Dulles, downrated Friday as propaganda distortions some of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boasts of giant economic strides.

What's more, Dulles told a Senate-House economic subcommittee evidence indicates Khrushchev's first-hand look at the United States shattered his illusions about overtaking U. S. industrial production in the next 10 years.

But Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, testified the Soviet economic drive must be taken seriously. He said the U. S. lead, while still substantial, will be narrowed dangerously by 1970 unless this country pushes ahead its industrial expansion at a faster pace.

Gives Assessment

Dulles gave the assessment in a statement prepared for his first public appearance before a congressional committee. Normally, he testifies in private for security reasons.

While there is a considerable gap between the over-all U. S. and Soviet economies, Dulles said, "their military effort, in terms of value, is roughly comparable to our own—a little less in terms of hardware produced but substantially more in terms of manpower under arms."

Dulles dismissed as a "gross exaggeration" a Khrushchev prediction that the Russian people will enjoy the world's highest living standard by 1970. Dulles said the Soviet public "still fares very badly in comparison with ours."

Noting the Kremlin has announced steps to increase production of some consumer goods, Dulles said these amount only to "a trickle of further benefits."

Also in the exaggeration class, Dulles said, was Khrushchev's claim that Soviet industrial production will surpass U. S. output by 1970.

Continue To Grow

Dulles pegged current Soviet industrial production at about 40 per cent of U. S. output. The CIA, he told the subcommittee, expects the Soviets to continue to grow industrially by about 8 to 9 per cent a year—the growth rate he said they have kept up for the past decade.

If this rate continues, Dulles estimated, the Soviet Union's industrial production will climb to about 60 per cent of the U.S. level in 1970 unless the United States spurts ahead of its recent average annual expansion rate of 4½ per cent.

Rocky Holds Conferences

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York flew into San Francisco Friday held two news conferences, made a luncheon speech and attended a series of receptions, all the while firmly reiterating that he has not yet decided whether to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Arriving from Los Angeles on a swing through the Far West, Rockefeller was asked at a television-radio conference about a comment by Vice President Richard M. Nixon that Nixon expects him to run for the nomination.

"That's his opinion," the New York governor replied. "I haven't made up my mind."

At another conference for newspaper reporters immediately afterward, Rockefeller repeated he didn't know whether he would enter the California presidential primary in June because he hadn't made up his mind whether to run.

He added that he didn't think he was in any way causing a split in Republican ranks because, "vitality of both parties is importantly enhanced by active interest.

"I think Dick (Nixon) feels the same way."

He said his Western trip had "broader implications" than a political venture, but did not explain.

Glacial Storm Is Spreading

By The Associated Press

A glacial storm that stunned Montana with massive snowdrifts and 40-below temperatures spread south and east Friday, cutting autumn short from Texas to New York State.

Its high winds ran south over the Plains in a sweeping cold wave. It fanned snow over the Midwest and the Great Lakes. South of the snow, from the northern Ohio Valley through Missouri and into Oklahoma, it glazed streets and highways with ice from freezing rain, drizzle and sleet.

At least 16 deaths were attributed to the snow and cold.

Montana's snow measured up to 2 feet. Thermometers registered as low as 42 below zero at Butte and 40 below at Drummond. Nowhere in the State Friday did the mercury get above zero.

Ahead of the gusty north winds, the Weather Bureau posted cold wave warnings for eastern Nebraska, western Missouri and northwestern Arkansas Friday nd for north central and southwestern Texas Saturday. Temperatures in the 20s reached into northern Texas Friday.

The cold was expected to penetrate the Appalachians in the East Saturday, bringing rain and sleet.

Drinking Habits In Teens Set Pattern Through Life

DETROIT (AP)—Your drinking habits as a teen-ager set the pattern of your drinking throughout life, including old age.

That's the finding from the first extensive research of the alcoholic drinking of people 60 years or older reported here Friday by a St. Louis sociologist.

Dr. David J. Pittman of the Washington University School of Medicine told of his research at the 13th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Of the group studied, Pittman found that about 20 per cent did not drink. But, he added: "There is a higher percentage of abstention in the 60 years and over age bracket than there is in (today's) younger age bracket of 20-30."

This, he said, results because "in the period 1900-1930, women were not only exhorted not to drink but they were the leaders in the crusade against alcohol sales. Since the repeal of Prohibition, American attitudes toward drinking have become more permissive."

Of the oldsters who drink, Pittman reported, their use of alcohol varies widely, ranging from moderates to alcoholics.

Of the moderate and excessive drinkers, Pittman found the marity began drinking between 16 and 20 and a good share had started between 12 and 16. Most of the older people who drink excessively began between 12 and 16.

Pittman drew from the research the conclusion, "If a person has not drunk before 25, it is not likely that he will begin."

The older people surveyed by Pittman came from all economic levels of society, ranging from retired business executives to laborers, from those with little schooling to those with advanced degrees.

Giant Africa Tribe Fleeing Former Slaves

KIGALI, Ruanda-Urundi (AP)—Hundreds of Watusis, a tribe of giants, were fleeing Friday from the all-out attack of their former slaves, the smaller but more numerous Bahutus in this African trust territory.

Belgian forces said some had taken refuge with their wives and children in towns and Roman Catholic missions, and that others had crossed into Uganda, a British trust territory to the north.

Fearing a famine because so many farmers are leaving their burned-out huts, the Belgian commander had thousands of leaflets scattered, calling on everybody to remain at work in the fields. Ruanda, scene of most of the trouble, has had famines and near-famines in the past because the poor land is overpopulated.

All Ruanda has been placed under military control, but there was little that the 1,500 exhausted troops flown in from the Congo and two companies of Belgian paratroopers could do to check the bands of Bahutus.

They roamed the hills, setting fire to Watusi huts, slashing their cattle, chopping down banana trees and coffee plants and then disappearing into the forests. Often old folks are left in the huts to burn.

Hundreds of huts and villages have been burned and many acres of plantations damaged. About 600 Africans have been arrested for arson in the last three days. Among those arrested were seven tribal chiefs.

Fatalities now total more than 200. No major clashes have been reported since the troops intervened three weeks ago, but authorities feared the proud Watusis would go on the warpath in revenge the moment the troops are withdrawn.

Belgium has governed the U.N. trust territory through the kings and chiefs of the Watusis, who have dominated the Bahutus for centuries. Belgian influence has gradually ended slavery.

In the twin trust territories of Ruanda-Urundi about 4 million of the 4,600,000 population are Bahutus.

A group of Watusis, calling themselves the Union Nationale Ruandaise, has been holding political rallies demanding immediate independence. Bahutus, fearing independence would restore domination by the Watusis, have formed an opposition group called the Aprosoma party.

Seaborg To Get AEC Fermi Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, nuclear scientist and chancellor of the University of California, was chosen Friday to receive the Atomic Energy Commission's $50,000 Enrico Fermi award for 1959.

AEC Chairman John A. McClone announced that Dr. Seaborg, 47, was honored for discoveries of plutonium and several additional elements and for leadership in the development of nuclear chemistry and atomic energy."

The award is in memory of the late Enrico Fermi, who, with associated scientists, operated the world's first atomic reactor at the University of Chicago.

Hearne Case Lifted From Jury Probe

Dublin Promises Aid To Deal With Irish Envoy's Son

WASHINGTON (AP)—The case of the Irish ambassador's son was lifted from a coroner's jury Friday to international diplomatic levels.

State Department officials said the Dublin government has promised to cooperate in working out some solution of the problems created by 21-year-old David Patrick Hearne.

The latest problem, following a series of fights with Washington policemen, is the traffic accident death of Jossie Hamlin, 50.

Mrs. Hamlin, a widowed Negro who worked as a domestic, was struck and killed by an automobile Wednesday night while crossing a street. The auto was driven by the son of Ambassador John J. Hearne. The son claimed diplomatic immunity from arrest.

Possible Solution

One possible solution which U.S. officials discussed with newsmen in a speculative way would be along these lines:

1. Ambassador Hearne might offer to make some financial arrangement in compensation to the victim's family.

2. Young Hearne, a college student here, would be sent to school in Ireland.

Assurance of Irish government cooperation was given to U. S. Ambassador Scott McLeod at Dublin. The State Department press office at first reported that McLeod had raised the issue on instructions from this government. Later, however, the press offce sad it was Ambassador Hearne who raised the question, and his government then gave its pledge of cooperation.

Apparently because of complications it might cause later in some other parts of the world, there was no disposition here to ask young Hearne to leave this country. However, a clear expectation was evident that he would be leaving soon.

Here Since 1950

Ambassador Hearne has been stationed in this country with his family since 1950.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald convened a six-man jury to inquire into the traffic fatality but dropped the case abruptly after being informed young Hearne was covered by diplomatic immunity.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Maurice Dunie told reporters it would be meaningless for the coroner's jury to continue with a case in which it lacked jurisdiction.

Young Hearne, looking composed and solemn, attended the brief session with a lawyer. Hearne was quoted by police as saying after the accident that he struck Mrs. Hamilin while trying to avoid another pedestrian.

Police said the Envoy's son has figured in three disorderly incidents in the last 2½ years. In each case he was released under diplomatic immunity.

Roger Touhy Given Parole After 25 Years

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—In a few days, Roger Touhy, 61, will achieve his ambition of 25 years. He'll leave prison.

He was granted a parole Friday.

Touhy, a Chicago beer baron during the Prohibition Era, has spent most of the last quarter century serving time for the 1933 kidnaping of a one-time confidence man, John Jake the Barber Factor.

Touhy has insisted that he was put away on the basis of perjured testimony.

He schemed for freedom and he sued for it. He got out for 83 days of dodging as a hunted fugitive in 1942 when he joined six other prisoners in a break over Stateville's 32-foot concrete wall. He was captured and put back.

He made it outside again in 1954 but only for 47 hours—from the time a U. S. district court approved his release until it was overruled on an appeal.

One of six sons of a Chicago policeman, Touhy grew up unruly. With some of his brothers, including Tommy (The Terrible), he muscled his way to domination of a small beer-selling empire on Chicago's Northwest Side during prohibition.

Roger, too, was called "The Terrible" as co-leader of the gang.

After repeal, the Touhy mob turned to other means of livelihood. They were ranked good suspects in kidnap-ransom cases. It was while winning acquittal on charges of carrying out the $100,000 ransom kidnap of William Hamm Jr. in St. Paul, Minn., on Nov. 28, 1933, that Roger Touhy was pointed out by Factor.

Factor said that Touhy was one of the men who snatched him outside a roadhouse near Chicago and held him until $70,000 ransom was paid.

Friday, Touhy kept to himself in Stateville, and declined a visit from newsmen and photographers.

Factor, now in the real estate business in Beverly Hills, Calif., had this comment on Touhy's parole: "If the parole board feels he has rehabilitated himself, I certainly see no reason why he shouldn't be released."

Former GI Who Changed Sex Is Wed In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A wall of silence arose Friday around a former soldier who is now a bride.

She is Mrs. Ralph M. Heidal but until five years ago, she was Charles Earnest McLeod. Then she decided to change her sex, and went to Denmark for an operation.

At home, in Dyersburg, Tenn., she explained, she was treated "neither as a male or female — more as a nonentity. I was miserable—and I wanted to die."

Today, Charlotte — as she now calls herself—wants to live, fully and in private.

"All we want is just a chance to be happy," she said in a copyrighted story in the Miami Herald.

Newsmen who tried to visit the couple at their tiny apartment Friday were turned away.

The Baptist minister who performed the marriage ceremony Oct. 11 was shocked.

"I'm going to call my doctor and get some tranquilizers," said the Rev. A. H. Stainback. "I wonder what the deacons will say."

Stainback said the couple had attended church faithfully since last summer and when they came to be married he had no reason to believe there was anything unusual.

The marriage apparently broke no Florida laws. State Atty. Richard Gerstein said he knows of no statute that would make it a crime.

Christine Jorgenson, who gained worldwide attention after a similar operation, was credited by Mrs. Heidal with leading her to decide on Denmark and the surgery which altered her sex.

Of the operation, Mrs. Heidal said: "All I have done is merely correct a mistake. My psyche has always thought, felt and reacted like a woman."

The first operation to produce the sex change took place on a kitchen table in Copenhagen in violation of a 1953 Danish law which restricted such surgery to Scandinavians.

"The operation almost killed me," she said. After months of hormone injections and plastic surgery in hospitals, she returned to this country.

Allen Dulles Says Claims Propaganda

CIA Head Believes U.S. Lead Will Be Narrowed By 1970

WASHINGTON (AP)—The top U. S. intelligence specialist Allen W. Dulles, downrated Friday as propaganda distortions some of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boasts of giant economic strides.

What's more, Dulles told a Senate-House economic subcommittee evidence indicates Khrushchev's first-hand look at the United States shattered his illusions about overtaking U. S. industrial production in the next 10 years.

But Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, testified the Soviet economic drive must be taken seriously. He said the U. S. lead, while still substantial, will be narrowed dangerously by 1970 unless this country pushes ahead its industrial expansion at a faster pace.

Gives Assessment

Dulles gave the assessment in a statement prepared for his first public appearance before a congressional committee. Normally, he testifies in private for security reasons.

While there is a considerable gap between the over-all U. S. and Soviet economies, Dulles said, "their military effort, in terms of value, is roughly comparable to our own—a little less in terms of hardware produced but substantially more in terms of manpower under arms."

Dulles dismissed as a "gross exaggeration" a Khrushchev prediction that the Russian people will enjoy the world's highest living standard by 1970. Dulles said the Soviet public "still fares very badly in comparison with ours."

Noting the Kremlin has announced steps to increase production of some consumer goods, Dulles said these amount only to "a trickle of further benefits."

Also in the exaggeration class, Dulles said, was Khrushchev's claim that Soviet industrial production will surpass U. S. output by 1970.

Continue To Grow

Dulles pegged current Soviet industrial production at about 40 per cent of U. S. output. The CIA, he told the subcommittee, expects the Soviets to continue to grow industrially by about 8 to 9 per cent a year—the growth rate he said they have kept up for the past decade.

If this rate continues, Dulles estimated, the Soviet Union's industrial production will climb to about 60 per cent of the U.S. level in 1970 unless the United States spurts ahead of its recent average annual expansion rate of 4½ per cent.

Rocky Holds Conferences

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York flew into San Francisco Friday held two news conferences, made a luncheon speech and attended a series of receptions, all the while firmly reiterating that he has not yet decided whether to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Arriving from Los Angeles on a swing through the Far West, Rockefeller was asked at a television-radio conference about a comment by Vice President Richard M. Nixon that Nixon expects him to run for the nomination.

"That's his opinion," the New York governor replied. "I haven't made up my mind."

At another conference for newspaper reporters immediately afterward, Rockefeller repeated he didn't know whether he would enter the California presidential primary in June because he hadn't made up his mind whether to run.

He added that he didn't think he was in any way causing a split in Republican ranks because, "vitality of both parties is importantly enhanced by active interest.

"I think Dick (Nixon) feels the same way."

He said his Western trip had "broader implications" than a political venture, but did not explain.

Forceful Salesman

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Brush salesman Stanley Brown paid a $153 fine Friday on charges by a housewife that he tried to force her to get in the bathtub and let him demonstrate a back-scrubbing brush.

Figures May Show Effects Of Steel Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Friday was reported ready to release figures showing the steel strike hit the national economy even harder than expected.

The third quarter report on the gross national product, due out Monday, is expected to show a substantial decline for the July-September period.

The gross national product, or GNP, measures the total value of all goods and services produced and is regarded as the best single indicator of economic movement.

Officials who have seen the new figures said they show a "surprisingly sharp" drop from the record rate of the April-June second quarter. The seasonally adjusted rate for April-June was 484½ billion dollars.

The rate for the July-September period is reported to be under 480 billion dollars a year. This would be a much sharper drop than was estimated last month by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Although the steel strike, which began July 15 and continued for 116 days before it was halted last Saturday by an 80-day court injunction, was the biggest factor in the decline, other influences also may have been at work.

Officials now believe the setback has also unbalanced the federal budget. Payroll losses due to the strike have reduced individual income taxes, and profit losses have cut into corporation income taxes.

Even though forced down by the steel strike, the July-September GNP rate is still the highest on record for any third quarter.

Bank-By-Phone Plans Are Upset

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Louis Smith says she doesn't believe her husband is going to continue his bank-by-phone plan.

The other day she reported one of the two phones in the Smith home out of order. A man from the telephone company replaced both phones with new ones.

When Smith came home and saw the new phones he was upset. Unknown to his wife, he had put $46 in the base of the bedroom phone. The telephone company was notified, search was made of a warehouse, and the money was returned Friday to the Smiths, a 20 two 10s, a 5 and a 1.

P.S: Worn out parts, not the bills, caused the phone trouble.

Not Strong Enough To Hold Cigar Band

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Stein, 62, paid a $3 litterbug fine Friday because he dropped a cigar band on the sidewalk.

Stein protested that the cigar band had been blown out of his hand by the wind.

"You look like a fairly strong man," said the judge in rejecting the argument. "Hold it tighter next time."

Teen-Age Girl Held In Attack On Teacher

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 16-year-old Negro high school girl receives a hearing in adolescent court Friday on charges that she knocked her white English teacher to a classroom floor and pummeled her.

The student, Ann Whitmore, was kept in jail Thursday night in lieu of $2,500 bail set by Magistrate Kenneth Phipps. He said it was the first time he ever had ordered an adolescent held in bail instead of releasing the defendant to her parents.

"This girl is just a little hoodlum with nothing to lose," he said.

Miss Whitmore was booked for assault for beating Rose Cohen, 36, in a classroom in Queens Vocational High School at the end of the school day Thursday. Miss Cohen was lecturing when the 3 p.m. bell rang and the students rushed for the door.

The teacher ordered the class back to its seats so she could finish the lesson. All complied with the exception of Miss Whitmore, who flew into a rage, knocked Miss Cohen to the floor and began to beat her, police said. The other students pulled the girl away from the teacher.

"Nothing makes me sicker at the stomach than to pick up the papers and read that one of these teachers, one of these dedicated people who take jobs to educate our children, has been beaten and kicked," Phipps said. "Up to now it's been boys. Now it's girls."

Antarctic Supply Drop Completed

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—An airdrop by a U.S. Air Force Globemaster of 15 tons of supplies over a South Pole scientific station Friday completed a 15,000-ton aerial resupply operation to U.S. antarctic stations which began in October. Most of the 400 men who carried out the flights will return to their home station, Donaldson Air Force Base in South Carolina.

New South Africa Party Has Meeting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's newly formed Progressive party held its first meeting here Friday and approved a constitution offering membership to a limited number of nonwhites. The Progressives favor qualified franchise for nonwhites while the Nationalists operate on the basis of apartheid, full segregation.

Young Heir Gives Away Money To Poor

BALTIMORE (AP) — A soft-spoken young man walked through Baltimore's poorer sections Friday, giving away money.

He did the same thing Thursday. According to his accounting, he got rid of about $3,000.

He walks to the door. The housewife answers. He asks her two questions: Are you poor? Will you use any money I give you in the right way? Then he presses $25 or $50 in her hand and walks to another door.

The police picked him up for questioning. Capt. Frank J. Battaglia of the Southwestern District talked to him. At first the man, Arthur D. Foster III was indignant about being brought in by the police, but gradually he simmered down.

After a long chat, Foster was released.

"There's no law saying a man can't give away money if he wants to," was all officers would say.

Foster comes from an exclusive suburban section of north Baltimore. His family knows what he is doing. Foster reportedly inherited many thousands of dollars recently, and he says he simply wants to give it away.

So he is.

He stopped by the house of Mrs. Edith Canole and handed her $50. Mrs. Canole said it was a godsend, with seven children and her husband out of work.

Mrs. Cecilia Galentine slammed the door in his face when he first asked her the usual questions. The second time he knocked, he gave her $25.

He is registered at the downtown YMCA. Before he started yesterday, he checked the Salvation Army and city Welfare Dept. for locations of the poorer sections of town. Then he left.

When police questioned him, he had these areas marked on a city map with a pencil.

Thursday he worked the south end of the city. Friday it was the eastern section. Saturday?

More Baltimore Workers Furloughed

BALTIMORE (AP)—A total of 184 more workers were furloughed from their jobs in the Baltimore metropolitan area during the weekly period ended Nov. 11 as a result of the prolonged steel industry strike.

The Department of Employment Security said Friday 130 of the workers were employed by an instrument manufacturing plant and 10 were employed by an automotive parts distributor.

The layoffs increased to 10,040 the number put out of work by the steel stoppage, which began July 14 and was terminated under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act last Saturday. All but 496 of those furloughed by the industries dependent upon steel worked in the Baltimore area, the DES said.

Chronic Disease Collections Rise

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Legislative Council committee reported Friday that collections from patients in State chronic disease hospitals rose from $32,000 in the 1958 fiscal year to $116,000 during the year ending last July 1.

The Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), said that since July 1 patients or their relatives have paid $66,000 for care in the hospitals.

The State Welfare Department supervises the formula which shows how much each patient is expected to pay.

Mounted Bobbie Gets His Man In Bank Holdup

LONDON (AP) — A London mounted policeman got his man in an attempted bank robbery Friday.

The would-be robber vaulted over the counter of a bank on Lond's East Side and snarled at the chief cashier: "I want the money."

The cashier, B.A. Milne-Walker, grappled with the unarmed desperado. Tellers sounded the alarm. Police Sgt. Frederick Nichols galloped up, maneuvered his mount against the bank door so nobody could get out.

The arrest was easy.

Gunmen Get $3,688 From Two Messengers

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tavern owner sent two employes to a bank to get $3,688 for cashing checks Friday, but three gunmen short-circuited the messengers and escaped with the money.

James Lloyd, 42, who has gone on bank errands for the New Onyx Liquor Store for eight years, told police about the episode.

Lloyd said he and his driver, Percy Hall 40, had gone to a bank at the corner of Washington Boulevard and Barre Streets about 1 p.m. After withdrawing the money, they returned to their car parked at a curb when three Negroes approached.

Lloyd said the men pulled out automatic pistols and forced him and Hall to squat in the back seat. The gunmen then got in the car. One of the bandits drove a circuitous route that took them to the southwest part of the city.

Then, Lloyd, related, the thugs left the bank messengers in the car, warning them not to move away for 15 minutes. Lloyd and Hall drove to the Southwest District police station to report the holdup.

Bomb Threats Spread Fear

NEW YORK (UPI)—New telephone bomb threats Friday spread fears that another "mad bomber," may be on the loose in a quiet Staten Island neighborhood where a housewife without a known enemy was killed in a booby-trapped garage.

Police said four other persons in the general vicinity of Mrs. Concetta Giarletta's home had received calls that they "will be next."

Authorities, recalling the nationwide wave of threats that preceded the arrest of "mad bomber" George Metesky nearly three years ago, predicted there would be many such calls by children and adults with warped senses of humor.

Authorities assigned dozens of additional policemen and detectives to calm the fears of jittery residents of the Port Richmond area of Staten Island. All of the reinforcements are residents of Staten Island but had been on duty in Manhattan.

Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday of more than 50 wounds she suffered in the explosion of a grenade which had been planted to go off when her garage door was opened. The explosion, on Tuesday night, tore off both legs and embedded shrapnel in her abdomen and other parts of her body.

Almeida New Chief Of Staff

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. Juan Almeida was named Cuban army chief of staff Friday. He replaces Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, who vanished Oct. 28 on a flight from Camaguey to Havana.

Almeida formerly was air force chief. Maj. Sergio Jimenez de Valle was named to the air force post. He had been Cienfuegos' second in command.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro, in a TV speech early Friday said it was presumed Cienfuegos crashed in the Atlantic.

Almeida was one of the 12 survivors of the 82-man invasion party Fidel Castro led into Cuba late in 1956. He was named air force chief last July after Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz defected from that post charging Communist infiltration in the government. Diaz Lanz now is in the United States.

No Solution Seen In Oregon Strike

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Federal Mediator Elmer Williams said Friday night there appeared to be no quick solution to a stereotypers strike against the Oregon Journal and the Oregonian.

Williams met with management of the two newspapers for 2½ hours. Friday. He met with union officials Thursday.

"Frankly I haven't learned anything yet that would lead me to believe there will be a quick and easy solution to the dispute," he said.

Stereotypers struck the afternoon Journal and the morning Oregonian at 5 a.m. Tuesday. Since then the two rival dallies have published a joint newspaper in the Oregonian plant.

Young Exhibitor May Again Have Prize Steer

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Exhibitors at the Eastern National Livestock Show which opens at the State Fair Grounds Friday will be keeping an eye on an Aberdeen-Angus steer entered by an 11-year-old Cecil County boy.

If the steer is as handsome as the one he showed last year, Gregory Arzt of Cecilton may again walk off with the grand champion of the show ribbon.

Gregory is the youngest exhibitor in the show's history to win the grand championship. His 1,125-pound entry last-year topped all other steers and sold for a record $4,511, or $4.01 per pound.

As he did last year, the 4-H Club member is entering only one animal in the current show, which runs through Nov. 19. He'll have some stiff competition. A record 1,900 head of prize cattle, sheep and swine have been entered, and nearly 500 of these are steers.

Exhibitors at the Eastern National, largest livestock show in the East and fourth largest in the nation, will be competing for $52,000 in prize money. Entries have been received from 20 states and Canada.

Among the entries are 15 Devon breeding cattle being shown by Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon from his farm at Poolesville, Md. Another big entry is that of the Louada Manor Farms of Ontario, Canada, which will show eighteen Shorthorns.

Singer Worries Over Opening

CHICAGO (UPI) — Friday is one Friday the 13th that really has singer Jane Froman worried.

She's opening in a night club for the first time since undergoing a fifth operation to walk again last January. Superstitious by nature as well as apprehensive about going back to singing after so long, she came here clutching a lucky elephant, not much bigger than the head of a pin. In case the elephant proved too small to be lucky, Miss Froman also brought along a crystal owl which brought her luck in the past.

Aside from opening night jitters, however, Miss Froman insisted she felt wonderful after the operation which she hopes is her last. She began undergoing operations in 1943 when an air crash crippled her. Initially confined to a wheel chair, she began to walk again in 1949.

Although she still wears a leg brace, she walked jauntily and said she hoped to dance before long.

Lobbyist To Seek State Pay Raise

BALTIMORE (AP)—State employes will depend on a Baltimore political figure and lobbyist to convince the 1960 General Assembly they should get a pay increase.

The Maryland Classified Employes Assn. decided Friday night to employe Joseph M. Wyatt to represent the workers in the fight for a 10 per cent across-the-board pay hike during the session in Fedruary.

A Legislative Council committee recently recommended a more moderate pay increase for those with the most seniority in the various classifications.

Flemming said the first seizure, recommended Nov. 9 was formally made Friday at Merced, Calif. This lot contains 639 bags of 44 pounds each shipped fron North Bend, Ore.

Printers End Boston Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Union printers ended a strike Friday night which since Nov. 5 has halted publication of six major Boston daily newspapers.

Robert B. Choate, publisher of the Herald and Traveler, Davis Taylor, publisher of the Globe, and General Manager James H. McGaffigan of the Hearst papers said the evening papers — the Traveler, the Evening Globe and The American — will not appear Saturday. The Hearst plant will resume publication with the Sunday Advertiser.

A total of some 5,000 workers were idled by the strike.

Attorney Catches Burglar In Home

BALTIMORE (AP) — Attorney Basil A. Thomas got up and barred the door today.

And for good reason. He nabbed a burglary suspect. The 45-year-old Thomas, a member of the Board of Supervisors of Elections, heard a noise on the first floor of his North Baltimore home about 5 a.m. as he and his wife were sleeping upstairs.

Thomas told his wife to phone police. He went downstairs to see a man dash into the bathroom. Thomas held the door tight until police arrived about five minutes later to arrest a 32-year-old man.

Figures May Show Effects Of Steel Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Friday was reported ready to release figures showing the steel strike hit the national economy even harder than expected.

The third quarter report on the gross national product, due out Monday, is expected to show a substantial decline for the July-September period.

The gross national product, or GNP, measures the total value of all goods and services produced and is regarded as the best single indicator of economic movement.

Officials who have seen the new figures said they show a "surprisingly sharp" drop from the record rate of the April-June second quarter. The seasonally adjusted rate for April-June was 484½ billion dollars.

The rate for the July-September period is reported to be under 480 billion dollars a year. This would be a much sharper drop than was estimated last month by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Although the steel strike, which began July 15 and continued for 116 days before it was halted last Saturday by an 80-day court injunction, was the biggest factor in the decline, other influences also may have been at work.

Officials now believe the setback has also unbalanced the federal budget. Payroll losses due to the strike have reduced individual income taxes, and profit losses have cut into corporation income taxes.

Even though forced down by the steel strike, the July-September GNP rate is still the highest on record for any third quarter.

Bank-By-Phone Plans Are Upset

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Louis Smith says she doesn't believe her husband is going to continue his bank-by-phone plan.

The other day she reported one of the two phones in the Smith home out of order. A man from the telephone company replaced both phones with new ones.

When Smith came home and saw the new phones he was upset. Unknown to his wife, he had put $46 in the base of the bedroom phone. The telephone company was notified, search was made of a warehouse, and the money was returned Friday to the Smiths, a 20 two 10s, a 5 and a 1.

P.S: Worn out parts, not the bills, caused the phone trouble.

Not Strong Enough To Hold Cigar Band

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Stein, 62, paid a $3 litterbug fine Friday because he dropped a cigar band on the sidewalk.

Stein protested that the cigar band had been blown out of his hand by the wind.

"You look like a fairly strong man," said the judge in rejecting the argument. "Hold it tighter next time."

Teen-Age Girl Held In Attack On Teacher

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 16-year-old Negro high school girl receives a hearing in adolescent court Friday on charges that she knocked her white English teacher to a classroom floor and pummeled her.

The student, Ann Whitmore, was kept in jail Thursday night in lieu of $2,500 bail set by Magistrate Kenneth Phipps. He said it was the first time he ever had ordered an adolescent held in bail instead of releasing the defendant to her parents.

"This girl is just a little hoodlum with nothing to lose," he said.

Miss Whitmore was booked for assault for beating Rose Cohen, 36, in a classroom in Queens Vocational High School at the end of the school day Thursday. Miss Cohen was lecturing when the 3 p.m. bell rang and the students rushed for the door.

The teacher ordered the class back to its seats so she could finish the lesson. All complied with the exception of Miss Whitmore, who flew into a rage, knocked Miss Cohen to the floor and began to beat her, police said. The other students pulled the girl away from the teacher.

"Nothing makes me sicker at the stomach than to pick up the papers and read that one of these teachers, one of these dedicated people who take jobs to educate our children, has been beaten and kicked," Phipps said. "Up to now it's been boys. Now it's girls."

Antarctic Supply Drop Completed

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—An airdrop by a U.S. Air Force Globemaster of 15 tons of supplies over a South Pole scientific station Friday completed a 15,000-ton aerial resupply operation to U.S. antarctic stations which began in October. Most of the 400 men who carried out the flights will return to their home station, Donaldson Air Force Base in South Carolina.

New South Africa Party Has Meeting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's newly formed Progressive party held its first meeting here Friday and approved a constitution offering membership to a limited number of nonwhites. The Progressives favor qualified franchise for nonwhites while the Nationalists operate on the basis of apartheid, full segregation.

Young Heir Gives Away Money To Poor

BALTIMORE (AP) — A soft-spoken young man walked through Baltimore's poorer sections Friday, giving away money.

He did the same thing Thursday. According to his accounting, he got rid of about $3,000.

He walks to the door. The housewife answers. He asks her two questions: Are you poor? Will you use any money I give you in the right way? Then he presses $25 or $50 in her hand and walks to another door.

The police picked him up for questioning. Capt. Frank J. Battaglia of the Southwestern District talked to him. At first the man, Arthur D. Foster III was indignant about being brought in by the police, but gradually he simmered down.

After a long chat, Foster was released.

"There's no law saying a man can't give away money if he wants to," was all officers would say.

Foster comes from an exclusive suburban section of north Baltimore. His family knows what he is doing. Foster reportedly inherited many thousands of dollars recently, and he says he simply wants to give it away.

So he is.

He stopped by the house of Mrs. Edith Canole and handed her $50. Mrs. Canole said it was a godsend, with seven children and her husband out of work.

Mrs. Cecilia Galentine slammed the door in his face when he first asked her the usual questions. The second time he knocked, he gave her $25.

He is registered at the downtown YMCA. Before he started yesterday, he checked the Salvation Army and city Welfare Dept. for locations of the poorer sections of town. Then he left.

When police questioned him, he had these areas marked on a city map with a pencil.

Thursday he worked the south end of the city. Friday it was the eastern section. Saturday?

More Baltimore Workers Furloughed

BALTIMORE (AP)—A total of 184 more workers were furloughed from their jobs in the Baltimore metropolitan area during the weekly period ended Nov. 11 as a result of the prolonged steel industry strike.

The Department of Employment Security said Friday 130 of the workers were employed by an instrument manufacturing plant and 10 were employed by an automotive parts distributor.

The layoffs increased to 10,040 the number put out of work by the steel stoppage, which began July 14 and was terminated under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act last Saturday. All but 496 of those furloughed by the industries dependent upon steel worked in the Baltimore area, the DES said.

Chronic Disease Collections Rise

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Legislative Council committee reported Friday that collections from patients in State chronic disease hospitals rose from $32,000 in the 1958 fiscal year to $116,000 during the year ending last July 1.

The Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), said that since July 1 patients or their relatives have paid $66,000 for care in the hospitals.

The State Welfare Department supervises the formula which shows how much each patient is expected to pay.

Mounted Bobbie Gets His Man In Bank Holdup

LONDON (AP) — A London mounted policeman got his man in an attempted bank robbery Friday.

The would-be robber vaulted over the counter of a bank on Lond's East Side and snarled at the chief cashier: "I want the money."

The cashier, B.A. Milne-Walker, grappled with the unarmed desperado. Tellers sounded the alarm. Police Sgt. Frederick Nichols galloped up, maneuvered his mount against the bank door so nobody could get out.

The arrest was easy.

Gunmen Get $3,688 From Two Messengers

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tavern owner sent two employes to a bank to get $3,688 for cashing checks Friday, but three gunmen short-circuited the messengers and escaped with the money.

James Lloyd, 42, who has gone on bank errands for the New Onyx Liquor Store for eight years, told police about the episode.

Lloyd said he and his driver, Percy Hall 40, had gone to a bank at the corner of Washington Boulevard and Barre Streets about 1 p.m. After withdrawing the money, they returned to their car parked at a curb when three Negroes approached.

Lloyd said the men pulled out automatic pistols and forced him and Hall to squat in the back seat. The gunmen then got in the car. One of the bandits drove a circuitous route that took them to the southwest part of the city.

Then, Lloyd, related, the thugs left the bank messengers in the car, warning them not to move away for 15 minutes. Lloyd and Hall drove to the Southwest District police station to report the holdup.

Bomb Threats Spread Fear

NEW YORK (UPI)—New telephone bomb threats Friday spread fears that another "mad bomber," may be on the loose in a quiet Staten Island neighborhood where a housewife without a known enemy was killed in a booby-trapped garage.

Police said four other persons in the general vicinity of Mrs. Concetta Giarletta's home had received calls that they "will be next."

Authorities, recalling the nationwide wave of threats that preceded the arrest of "mad bomber" George Metesky nearly three years ago, predicted there would be many such calls by children and adults with warped senses of humor.

Authorities assigned dozens of additional policemen and detectives to calm the fears of jittery residents of the Port Richmond area of Staten Island. All of the reinforcements are residents of Staten Island but had been on duty in Manhattan.

Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday of more than 50 wounds she suffered in the explosion of a grenade which had been planted to go off when her garage door was opened. The explosion, on Tuesday night, tore off both legs and embedded shrapnel in her abdomen and other parts of her body.

Almeida New Chief Of Staff

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. Juan Almeida was named Cuban army chief of staff Friday. He replaces Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, who vanished Oct. 28 on a flight from Camaguey to Havana.

Almeida formerly was air force chief. Maj. Sergio Jimenez de Valle was named to the air force post. He had been Cienfuegos' second in command.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro, in a TV speech early Friday said it was presumed Cienfuegos crashed in the Atlantic.

Almeida was one of the 12 survivors of the 82-man invasion party Fidel Castro led into Cuba late in 1956. He was named air force chief last July after Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz defected from that post charging Communist infiltration in the government. Diaz Lanz now is in the United States.

No Solution Seen In Oregon Strike

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Federal Mediator Elmer Williams said Friday night there appeared to be no quick solution to a stereotypers strike against the Oregon Journal and the Oregonian.

Williams met with management of the two newspapers for 2½ hours. Friday. He met with union officials Thursday.

"Frankly I haven't learned anything yet that would lead me to believe there will be a quick and easy solution to the dispute," he said.

Stereotypers struck the afternoon Journal and the morning Oregonian at 5 a.m. Tuesday. Since then the two rival dailies have published a joint newspaper in the Oregonian plant.

Young Exhibitor May Again Have Prize Steer

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Exhibitors at the Eastern National Livestock Show which opens at the State Fair Grounds Friday will be keeping an eye on an Aberdeen-Angus steer entered by an 11-year-old Cecil County boy.

If the steer is as handsome as the one he showed last year, Gregory Arzt of Cecilton may again walk off with the grand champion of the show ribbon.

Gregory is the youngest exhibitor in the show's history to win the grand championship. His 1,125-pound entry last-year topped all other steers and sold for a record $4,511, or $4.01 per pound.

As he did last year, the 4-H Club member is entering only one animal in the current show, which runs through Nov. 19. He'll have some stiff competition. A record 1,900 head of prize cattle, sheep and swine have been entered, and nearly 500 of these are steers.

Exhibitors at the Eastern National, largest livestock show in the East and fourth largest in the nation, will be competing for $52,000 in prize money. Entries have been received from 20 states and Canada.

Among the entries are 15 Devon breeding cattle being shown by Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon from his farm at Poolesville, Md. Another big entry is that of the Louada Manor Farms of Ontario, Canada, which will show eighteen Shorthorns.

Singer Worries Over Opening

CHICAGO (UPI) — Friday is one Friday the 13th that really has singer Jane Froman worried.

She's opening in a night club for the first time since undergoing a fifth operation to walk again last January. Superstitious by nature as well as apprehensive about going back to singing after so long, she came here clutching a lucky elephant, not much bigger than the head of a pin. In case the elephant proved too small to be lucky, Miss Froman also brought along a crystal owl which brought her luck in the past.

Aside from opening night jitters, however, Miss Froman insisted she felt wonderful after the operation which she hopes is her last. She began undergoing operations in 1943 when an air crash crippled her. Initially confined to a wheel chair, she began to walk again in 1949.

Although she still wears a leg brace, she walked jauntily and said she hoped to dance before long.

Lobbyist To Seek State Pay Raise

BALTIMORE (AP)—State employes will depend on a Baltimore political figure and lobbyist to convince the 1960 General Assembly they should get a pay increase.

The Maryland Classified Employes Assn. decided Friday night to employe Joseph M. Wyatt to represent the workers in the fight for a 10 per cent across-the-board pay hike during the session in Fedruary.

A Legislative Council committee recently recommended a more moderate pay increase for those with the most seniority in the various classifications.

New Cranberry Seizure Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second seizure of Oregon cranberries contaminated with aminotriazole has been recommended to the Justice Department by the Food and Drug Administration, Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming announced Friday.

The secretary said the shipment contains 311 bags of 44 pounds each of fresh cranberries shipped on or about Oct. 20 from Coquille, Ore., to Modesto, Calif.

Flemming said the first seizure, recommended Nov. 9 was formally made Friday at Merced, Calif. This lot contains 639 bags of 44 pounds each shipped fron North Bend, Ore.

Printers End Boston Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Union printers ended a strike Friday night which since Nov. 5 has halted publication of six major Boston daily newspapers.

The vote to accept arbitration on two unresolved issues, was 644-543.

Publishers of two of Boston's three morning newspapers ordered employes to return immediately to prepare Saturday morning editions. While the Herald and the Globe took steps to resume publication, the Hearst management decided not to bring out the Saturday morning Record.

Robert B. Choate, publisher of the Herald and Traveler, Davis Taylor, publisher of the Globe, and General Manager James H. McGaffigan of the Hearst papers said the evening papers — the Traveler, the Evening Globe and The American — will not appear Saturday. The Hearst plant will resume publication with the Sunday Advertiser.

A total of some 5,000 workers were idled by the strike.

UW Panel Praises Book Of Job

The Book of Job from the Old Testament is one of the World's truly great books is the concensus of the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, following the group's meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie. It was shown Job has the three prerequisites of great literature; a great theme which is human suffering; in beautiful and majestic language; and dignity of structual form, dramatic poetry set in a framework of prose. From this story of Job, Archibald MacLeish wrote his play, "J. B." which opened in New York about a year ago and was awarded a Pulitzer Prize.

In the discussion led by Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Milton Granet, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges and Mrs. Milton Bernstein, Job and his modern counterpart, "J. B." who is portrayed as a prosperous American businessman, were shown to be men whose faith in God is tried in a series of personal and tragic disasters. To each in his misery come three friends, the "three false comforters." In the Book of Job, the friends harangue Job, declaring that he is being punished because he has been sinful, whether his sin is recognized or not; in the play, the three friends who represent modern points of view of Freudian psychology, Communism, and Christian theology, try to convince J. B. that "we all are victims of our guilt — not guilty." In Job, the youthful Elihu tells the sufferer that his punishment is a warning, meant to educate him; in "J. B." one has the feeling that MacLeish himself is Elihu. Both men, Job and "J. B.," steadfastly keep faith throughout their punishment and are brought to acknowledgement that man cannot hope to understand the Divine will.

The leaders recommended two recent books for a concise analysis of the Book of Job and its problem: "Why do the innocent suffer?" They are "Understanding The Old Testament" by Dr. Bernard Anderson and "Job" by Dr. Solomon Friehauf.

Programs from the New York production of "J. B." were on display showing the simple, effective stage setting for the play.

Mrs. Ralph Webster, chairman, announced that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Bastian, 801 Louisiana Avenue, December 8. Mrs. Somerville Nicholson and Mrs. Bert Mason Jr., were guests. Others present were: Mrs. William P. Durland, Mrs. William C. Walsh, Mrs. Paul Castelle, Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, Mrs. George Hazelwood, Mrs. A. J. Feigus, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Hollis Seavey, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Bastian, Mrs. Milton Beneman and Mrs. Granville Shirley. Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer was assistant hostess.

A panel discussion on "Changes and Trends in Medicine," will be presented by the public medical education committee, for any civic groups interested, Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield announced.

Reporting on the fluoridation program, Mrs. Samuel Jacobson urged its support and reported that the Allegany Council for Scientific Progress had gone before the Mayor and City Council urging it. She said only 10 communities in Maryland, with a population of over 2000 persons, including Cumberland, have no fluoridation program. The auxiliary voted to send a resolution favoring it, to the Mayor and City Council and to outlying communities.

Mrs. Lewis reported a delegation of three would attend the state board meeting Thursday in Hagerstown. An invitation was received to attend the Sacred Heart Auxiliary tea November 24. Mrs. Leslie R. Miles was elected vice president to succeed Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland.

Dr. van Strien explained the program and role of the health department and health officer. He dwelled upon the current plans of the department, including immunizations for children, clinical evaluations, fluoridation, slum clearance, school health services, transportation of sick persons and home nursing. He also spoke of the need for an advisory board of health, with representatives from both public voluntary health agencies and professional agencies.

Others present were Mrs. van Strien, Mrs. Ralph Ballin, Mrs. Leslie Daugherty, Mrs. Wyand F. Doerner, Jr., Mrs. Himmelwright, Mrs. William P. Iames, Dr. Gina Glick, Mrs. Emmett Jones, Mrs. Lloyd Meyers, Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Lewis Mould, Mrs. James Stegmaier, Mrs. Miles, Mrs. Rhett Rathbone, Mrs. Blane Schindler, Mrs. VanOrmer and Mrs. Ralph Reiter.

Society To Sponsor Study

"Each one has a talent that can be used," Miss Grace Steiner told members of the Women's Missionary Society of Grace Baptist Church in speaking on "Enlistment" at a luncheon meeting Thursday at the church. A retired deaconess, having served in an executive capacity as a home field worker for the Methodist board, Miss Steiner was stationed in Los Angeles, Washington, Cincinnati, New York and Baltimore, and has visited Alaska. She gave a resume of the work of the WSCS and "challenged each to give her best in the service to the Lord and His Kingdom."

During the brief business meeting which followed, Mrs. James Kirkpatrick heard reports and presented each officer with a year book containing the outline of work as planned by each officer for the ensuing year of 1959-60.

Mrs. John Knowlton, community missions chairman, included in her report the tray cards made for the Memorial Hospital, baskets of food taken to the sick and bereaved, clothing and toys distributed, and cards and literature sent. She announced that at the next Work Day, December 3, beginning at 9 a.m., toy crib mattresses, covers, and pillows for the Associated Charities will be made.

The services held at the County Home and the treat taken for the guests there was reported by Mrs. George Digman. Those assisting with the service were: Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Clyde Runion, Mrs. Samuel Blume, Miss Mary Hannah Kolb, and Mrs. Knowlton. A dinner will be served to those attending the classes. UW Panel Praises Book Of Job

The Book of Job from the Old Testament is one of the World's truly great books is the concensus of the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, following the group's meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie. It was shown Job has the three prerequisites of great literature; a great theme which is human suffering; in beautiful and majestic language; and dignity of structual form, dramatic poetry set in a framework of prose. From this story of Job, Archibald MacLeish wrote his play, "J. B." which opened in New York about a year ago and was awarded a Pulitzer Prize.

In the discussion led by Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Milton Granet, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges and Mrs. Milton Bernstein, Job and his modern counterpart, "J. B." who is portrayed as a prosperous American businessman, were shown to be men whose faith in God is tried in a series of personal and tragic disasters. To each in his misery come three friends, the "three false comforters." In the Book of Job, the friends harangue Job, declaring that he is being punished because he has been sinful, whether his sin is recognized or not; in the play, the three friends who represent modern points of view of Freudian psychology, Communism, and Christian theology, try to convince J. B. that "we all are victims of our guilt — not guilty." In Job, the youthful Elihu tells the sufferer that his punishment is a warning, meant to educate him; in "J. B." one has the feeling that MacLeish himself is Elihu. Both men, Job and "J. B.," steadfastly keep faith throughout their punishment and are brought to acknowledgement that man cannot hope to understand the Divine will.

The leaders recommended two recent books for a concise analysis of the Book of Job and its problem: "Why do the innocent suffer?" They are "Understanding The Old Testament" by Dr. Bernard Anderson and "Job" by Dr. Solomon Friehauf.

Programs from the New York production of "J. B." were on display showing the simple, effective stage setting for the play.

Mrs. Ralph Webster, chairman, announced that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Bastian, 801 Louisiana Avenue, December 8. Mrs. Somerville Nicholson and Mrs. Bert Mason Jr., were guests. Others present were: Mrs. William P. Durland, Mrs. William C. Walsh, Mrs. Paul Castelle, Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, Mrs. George Hazelwood, Mrs. A. J. Feigus, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Hollis Seavey, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Bastian, Mrs. Milton Beneman and Mrs. Granville Shirley. Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer was assistant hostess.

From the dawn of human history, man has gazed with awe and fascination across the horizon. What secrets are buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures are out there beyond the sunset?

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have faced it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

Those who live and search in the Everlasting Light, His Holy Word, need have no fear of what lies beyond the oceans of water, the oceans of human experience, or the oceans of human thought. For the land and the sea are God's, and He rules in the kingdom of men.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

From the dawn of human history, man has gazed with awe and fascination across the horizon. What secrets are buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures are out there beyond the sunset?

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have faced it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

Those who live and search in the Everlasting Light, His Holy Word, need have no fear of what lies beyond the oceans of water, the oceans of human experience, or the oceans of human thought. For the land and the sea are God's, and He rules in the kingdom of men.

W.Va. Checking Cranberries

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said Thursday he has about 10 inspectors working full time checking West Virginia cranberry supplies to determine if any have been affected by a weed killer producing cancer. He expects a report by Saturday.

Johnson said the men are checking cranberries to determine whether any from the northwest part of the nation have been transported into West Virginia.

Johnson said so far none of the contaminated berries have been found in the Mountain state. He said most of the cranberries shipped into West Virginia come from the East, a section the federal government alreay has declared free of the contaminated cranberries.

The department's chief chemist Marvin H. Snyder said it would take an awful lot of cranberries to give any human cancer. Snyder said the weed killer was used to produce cancer in rats. However, he said the rats were fed a steady diet of the weed killer for two years.

Romney PTA Airs Reports About Hot Lunch Program

ROMNEY — Mrs. Donald Wright and Mrs. Reginald Wolford, both of Hoy, appeared before the Hampshire County Board of Education recently as representatives of the Hoy Parent-Teacher Association, and requested information on the possible discontinuance of the hot lunch program at that school.

It was claimed by the women that Superintendent of Schools A. C. Loy had not signed necessary forms to secure federal aid in the purchase of milk for the children. Forms for other schools had been processed and signed in September.

The Parent-Teacher Association felt that the hot lunch program would eventually be discontinued and sent the two representatives to speak in favor of its continuance.

The board immediately passed an order that the superintendent must sign the necessary report and mail it immediately.

Mrs. Margaret Baird, attendance officer, who was given additional duties as supervisor of the hot lunch program in the county, came to the meeting with her written resignation.

The decision to resign was made after Loy refused to sign her September pay check on the grounds that he had not recommended her for the position. She has 15 years experience.

The superintendent had requested West Virginia Attorney General W. W. Barron to write a decision in the matter, but Barron referred him to Railp W. Haines, prosecuting attorney for Hampshire County.

When asked to reconsider her resignation, Mrs. Baird then requested a 60-day leave of absence which was granted.

The superintendent then stated that he thought "something could be worked out" in the matter.

The October paycheck of Mrs. Baird was signed by Loy, but the September check remains unsigned.

Wild Turkeys Are Plentiful In W. Virginia

ROMNEY—According to Thomas Sanford, District 2 official of the Conservation Commission of West Virginia, the present increase in the number of wild turkeys in the Mountain State is due to conservation measures and improved range brought about by maturing forests.

The increase in the turkey population comes more than 10 years after substantial efforts to increase the turkey crop by "crossing" domestic turkeys with wild birds. Game farm turkeys proved unable to exist in the forests.

Game propagation experts state that the wild bird possesses a well developed nervous system, large brain, large endocrine glands and rapid metabolism. All these traits are necessary for existence in the forests.

The domestic turkey possesses a dull nervous system, small brain, small endocrine glands which do not permit rapid reaction, and the metabolism (energy producing system) is slow.

This makes only for a fat, gentle, heavy bodied bird for the table, and it is not wary and alert, making its chances for survival in wild habitat poor.

W.Va. Checking Cranberries

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said Thursday he has about 10 inspectors working full time checking West Virginia cranberry supplies to determine if any have been affected by a weed killer producing cancer. He expects a report by Saturday.

Johnson said the men are checking cranberries to determine whether any from the northwest part of the nation have been transported into West Virginia.

Johnson said so far none of the contaminated berries have been found in the Mountain state. He said most of the cranberries shipped into West Virginia come from the East, a section the federal government alreay has declared free of the contaminated cranberries.

The department's chief chemist Marvin H. Snyder said it would take an awful lot of cranberries to give any human cancer. Snyder said the weed killer was used to produce cancer in rats. However, he said the rats were fed a steady diet of the weed killer for two years.

Carpenters Cited For Putting Out Sugar Grove Blaze

Two members of Local 1024, Carpenters Union, have been cited for preventing a costly fire at Sugar Grove, where a mammoth radio telescope is being erected for the Navy.

They are Charles Richard Harper, Riverton, W. Va., and Earl J. Hedrick, Mouth of Seneca, W. Va.

T. W. Wommack, project manager for the Tidewater-Kiewit-P.E.C. contracting firms, wrote F. Patrick Allender, business agent of the Cumberland local, that through the alertness of the Pendleton County carpenters the fire was put out and the government saved a fair amount of money.

Morantown Landmark Burns Down

A frame home in Morantown fell victim to flames yesterday, with Frostburg Fire Department being called while the Elda Inn was burning in LaVale.

The house, owned by Mrs. Nazarene Femi, of Morantown, was occupied by Joseph Davies, and the fire was said by Frostburg firemen to have been caused by an overheated stove.

Most of the one-story structure burned to the ground. The Frostburg fire truck had to go a half mile off the paved road, and while crossing a small stream became stuck.

The firemen lugged a portable pump to the house and used water from a well there.

William Vogtman and Joseph Durst, assistant fire chiefs, said the blaze had a good head start when the firemen arrived and the tinder-dry old wooden home burned like wild-fire.

The house was a landmark in Morantown. Mrs. Femi said it had been unoccupied for a long time before Davies moved in.

The structure was originally built as a priesthouse for St. Carmel Catholic Church, which was torn down many years ago.

FHA Heads Explain Housing Rules

Federal Housing Administration officials explained new regulations to more than 55 Western Maryland financial, real estate, builders and building supply representatives at a meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Housing at Cumberland Country Club Thursday.

J. Carson Dowell, Chamber committee chairman, presided and introduced members of the Baltimore FHA office. In his introductory remarks, Dowell said "After meeting with industrial, financial and real estate representatives, the committee has arrived at the inescapable conclusion that this area is in need of more and better housing. Much of the housing available is obsolete and undesirable.

"The old housing is becoming obsolescent faster than replacements are available. Lack of housing is adding to the problem of local industry attracting prospective personnel," said Dowell. "One reason that people are not buying or upgrading their housing in this area is the lack of money for financing. FHA-insured mortgages have not been available to any extent in this area for several reasons. One reason is there is too much red tape and another is that the local lending institutions have sufficient applications for conventional loans to use all the funds they have available."

Purpose of the meeting was to explain the FHA "Certified Agency Plan." This would make FHA services available at a local level. FHA would appoint, upon application, inspectors and appraisers to service the local agencies which would lend money. It is hoped local banks will act as agencies. That would mean only final endorsement would be necessary by FHA in Baltimore and all other work would be done quickly at the local level.

Charles Borcherding, district FHA director, said the purpose is to extend benefits to people in areas remote from regional offices and who, as a practical matter, have been unable to get FHA mortgages. CAP does not replace current programs but provides higher ratio long-term mortgages to people who might otherwise be deprived, he said.

J. G. Johnson, Philadelphia, chief FHA underwriter, said FHA aids home buyers by insuring mortgages made by local banks, savings and loan associations, mortgage companies, insurance companies and other approved lending institutions. These insured mortgages bring ownership within reach of a greater number of families. FHA does not lend money nor does it plan or build homes, he said. Its features include small down payments (three per cent of the first $13,500), repayment over a term of years in equal monthly installments including taxes and insurance, as well as interest and loan principal.

To be eligible, Johnson said a borrower must establish good credit references and an ability to pay the installments which bear proper relation to his income and expenses· the property must meet FHA minimum standards; design, location and construction are considered. FHA insures mortgages up to $22,500 on one-family dwellings and can also be used in adding to, selling and buying or refinancing existing houses.

Leroy W. Pierce, FHA official from Fort River, N. J., pointed out the efficiency which the CAP program will service local builders and lending institutions so no delay is necessary while Baltimore processes papers. All phases will be handled locally.

Much interest was shown during a question and answer period following the speaking program, Dowell said. He said he hoped local builders and realtors will apply to become appraisers and inspectors and that local financial institutions will apply to become certified agencies so a major building expansion is forthcoming for the Western Maryland area.

The first solo flights in United States Army planes were made at College Park, Md., in 1909. They were airborne for 3 minutes, 13 seconds each.

Sanitary Plan In Area Discussed

Two of the three Allegany County Commissioners yesterday engaged in a conference with a representative of the County Health Department regarding the formation of sanitary districts.

John J. Rowan, board president, and William A. Wilson, commissoner, discussed with J. Byron Dowling, county sanitarian, the procedure to be followed.

Rowan said the persons interested in forming sanitary districts should first meet with the county commissioners who also comprise the County Board of Health.

The County Health Department should do no recommending of attorneys or engineering firms, he declared.

Dowling said the County Health Department only assists when asked. The Ellerslie group interested in forming a sanitary district met with the county commissioners Thursday.

The film "Ben Hur" cost 15 million dollars to make.

FHA-insured mortgages have not been available to any extent in this area for several reasons. One reason is there is too much red tape and another is that the local lending institutions have sufficient applications for conventional loans to use all the funds they have available."

Purpose of the meeting was to explain the FHA "Certified Agency Plan." This would make FHA services available at a local level. FHA would appoint, upon application, inspectors and appraisers to service the local agencies which would lend money. It is hoped local banks will act as agencies. That would mean only final endorsement would be necessary by FHA in Baltimore and all other work would be done quickly at the local level.

Charles Borcherding, district FHA director, said the purpose is to extend benefits to people in areas remote from regional offices and who, as a practical matter, have been unable to get FHA mortgages. CAP does not replace current programs but provides higher ratio long-term mortgages to people who might otherwise be deprived, he said.

J. G. Johnson, Philadelphia, chief FHA underwriter, said FHA aids home buyers by insuring mortgages made by local banks, savings and loan associations, mortgage companies, insurance companies and other approved lending institutions. These insured mortgages bring ownership within reach of a greater number of families. FHA does not lend money nor does it plan or build homes, he said. Its features include small down payments (three per cent of the first $13,500), repayment over a term of years in equal monthly installments including taxes and insurance, as well as interest and loan principal.

To be eligible, Johnson said a borrower must establish good credit references and an ability to pay the installments which bear proper relation to his income and expenses· the property must meet FHA minimum standards; design, location and construction are considered. FHA insures mortgages up to $22,500 on one-family dwellings and can also be used in adding to, selling and buying or refinancing existing houses.

Leroy W. Pierce, FHA official from Fort River, N. J., pointed out the efficiency which the CAP program will service local builders and lending institutions so no delay is necessary while Baltimore processes papers. All phases will be handled locally.

Much interest was shown during a question and answer period following the speaking program, Dowell said. He said he hoped local builders and realtors will apply to become appraisers and inspectors and that local financial institutions will apply to become certified agencies so a major building expansion is forthcoming for the Western Maryland area.

The first solo flights in United States Army planes were made at College Park, Md., in 1909. They were airborne for 3 minutes, 13 seconds each.

Sanitary Plan In Area Discussed

Two of the three Allegany County Commissioners yesterday engaged in a conference with a representative of the County Health Department regarding the formation of sanitary districts.

John J. Rowan, board president, and William A. Wilson, commissoner, discussed with J. Byron Dowling, county sanitarian, the procedure to be followed.

Rowan said the persons interested in forming sanitary districts should first meet with the county commissioners who also comprise the County Board of Health.

The County Health Department should do no recommending of attorneys or engineering firms, he declared.

Dowling said the County Health Department only assists when asked. The Ellerslie group interested in forming a sanitary district met with the county commissioners Thursday.

The film "Ben Hur" cost 15 million dollars to make.

Irresponsible Cubans Foment Hatred

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the irresponsible men now ruling Cuba are bent on fomenting hatred of the United States no matter what violence they do to the truth. The latest piece of evidence is a pamphlet published in Spanish and English by the Cuban Ministry of State.

This pamphlet, of which 100,000 copies are reported to have been printed "for distribution around the world," is typical of lurid hate literature with which propagandists have been deluging editors' desks in recent years. It accuses the United States of letting planes leave its soil to "bombard Havana, killing two and wounding 45."

Its headlines compare the alleged attack to Pearl Harbor. Its pages are filled with pictures of dead and dying including pictures of bodies of Cubans tortured during the Batista regime. As the U. S. State Department said in a strong protest, the brochure is "offensive and reports of the bombing are "inaccurate, malicious and misleading."

Only one unarmed plane flew to Cuba from the United States during the so-called attack and only leaflets were dropped. Cuban police confirmed this.

It is difficult to be patient with a government which deliberately spreads such lies about your own.

Castro

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquiism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making us his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

The United States permits Cuba to provide more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator. It has never been explained why dictators are bad in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, Democracy!, he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a bewhiskered clown who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

Mikoyan Starts Significant Tour Of Latin American Countries Soon

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan arrives in Mexico City next week it will mark the first time in the 42 years since the Bolshevik Revolution that any top-ranking Russian Communist has visited Latin America—except as a refugee from Stalin's vengeance.

This fact alone lends singular significance to the trip of the Kremlin's No. 2 man. For it was in Mexico City, 18 years ago, that exiled Leon Trotsky was butchered by ax-wielding "Jacques Mornard (real name: Ramon Mercader), still serving his 20-year sentence for murder.

Mikoyan is going to the Mexican capital to inaugurate an exposition on Soviet science, industry, and culture, set up at a cost of $500,000—the same exhibit shown earlier this year in New York City. It will now include a Lunik I reproduction, a scale model of the atomic ice-breaker Lenin, and huge blowups of pictures of the moon's far side.

Mexico was picked as the site of the exposition, Soviet embassy officials say, because of that country's "growing social, economic, and technical importance in Latin America." But the Mikoyan tour will also include Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, and perhaps Cuba and Colombia.

By an interesting "coincidence" the exposition dates—Nov. 22 to Dec. 15—closely parallel those of Mexico's big second annual review of world film festivals—and both events take place in the same building, Mexico City's 13,000-seat national auditorium.

Note — Mexican officials estimate that about 1,500,000 persons will view the Soviet exhibits during their 24-hour stand. The Russians have set the admission fee at a rock-bottom 1 peso, or 8 cents in U. S. currency.

Blowing the whistle on phony television commercials—In what must be the hottest commercial on television, the announcer sets fire to a car polished with Hutchinson's waterproof wax. "The only reason we burn the car," he explains dramatically, "is to show you that you positively cannot get down through that siliconized finish." . . . The Federal Trade Commission, however, has now splashed cold water on the "flaming auto" commercial. The flash fire doesn't burn long enough to damage the car, the FTC claims. Since heat rises, it doesn't have time to burn through the "siliconized" finish—or any other finish . . . The FTC also frowns upon the Rolaid commercials, which show stomach acid burning a hole through a napkin. The announcer suggests that Rolaids will relieve this dangerous acidity. What actually eats through the napkin, however, is hydrochloric acid, which may be found in the stomach but never in such concentrated form as to disintegrate napkins . . . The National Better Business Bureau has stated that the Ted Bates advertising agency is one of those responsible for jamming undesirable advertising down the throats of the TV networks. The bureau tells this column that the Ted Bates agency specializes in "hard sell" or high-pressure advertising copy and won't permit the networks to change a word. The Television Code Review Board found the Ted Bates commercials plugging hemorrhoid preparation "H" so objectionable that it withdrew its seal of acceptance . . . In most cases, however, the networks permit Madison Avenue to do as it pleases.

Appeal For Help

The Cuban pilots who were freed by Fidel Castro's military tribunal only to be retried after Castro expressed his disapproval of the verdict, have smuggled a dramatic message out of their Isle of Pines prison appealing for help.

In the scrawled note to Col. Fred Hook, former chief of the Air Force Mission in Cuba, the pilots plead: "Please do something. We can't stand it any longer. We are slaves working in the marble mines. Food has worms . . . We can't believe the USAF abandoned us that in some way belong to their reserve. Protest! Claim us, rescue us—anything, but don't let (sic) us here dying a thousand deaths. Help!"

The wadded note was slipped to a pilot's wife who was permitted to visit her husband at the Isle of Pines, known as Cuba's Alcatraz. She managed to smuggle it past the prison guard.

The imprisoned pilots addressed their appeal to Colonel Hook apparently because he had arranged for them to take flight training in Texas during the early 1950's.

Headlines And Footnotes

The U. S. Navy is now armed with Terrier missiles which, thanks to boosters, can knock down subsonic planes (flying less than 700 mph) as high as 40,000 feet. The admirals won't say what they'll do, however, if the attacking planes refuse to fly as slow as 700 mph and as low as 40,000 feet . . . Clark Air Force base outside Manila has been advertising scotch, vodka, gin, champagne, brandy, and wines for sale in Philippin newspapers. When the Pentagon raised an eyebrow, the Thirteenth Air Force explained that "the subject matter became surplus as a result of closing certain recreational facilities," then added hopefully: "Legal office advises no misinterpretation or violation of regulations in this matter." . . . Mamie Eisenhower quietly arranged for two wrought-iron tablets to be installed last summer in the White House rose garden and another flower bed. Inscribed on the tablets is this verse: "The kiss of the sun for pardon, The song of the birds for mirth; One is nearer God's heart in a garden than anywhere else on earth." . . . Eight Democrats have offered to run for the seat of thel ate Congressman Steve Carter, Iowa Democrat, who died last week of cancer. His wife, Lucille, would like to keep the seat in the family . . . Most likely choice to succeed Congressman Charles Boyle, Illinois Democrat and a great Congressman who was killed in an auto accident is Chicago Attorney Philip Fleischman.

Prosperous Chinese Corner Becomes Labor Camp

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG.

This is the story of the transformation of a once tranquil, once prosperous corner of old China, on the Fukien coast, into one of the agricultural labor camps that the Chinese Communists call "People's Communes."

This district, which I have called Hardscrabble because all the names in this true story have had to be changed, had already made considerable contributions to China's "great leap forward." By autumn, 1958, the Hardscrabble people had lost their ancestors' graves, the temples of their faith, their bits of jewelry, and worst of all, much of their summer crop. This last loss occurred because Communist Party Secretary Li had all but driven the folk from the land in order to realize Chairman Mao's latest inspiration, the backyard iron and steel furnace which produced no iron or steel.

The neglected fields yielded so poorly that the heads of Hardscrabble's seven collective farms dared not report their true crop totals. The state then took 40 per cent of the sweet potatoes and no less than 60 per cent of the rice under one pretext or another, basing its takings, too, on the over-reported crop totals. Thus the Hardscrabble cupboard was left all but bare.

Meanwhile, in September, the combined party-and-government headquarters in two rooms in Hardscrabble's largest village had been thrown into a convulsion of excitement by the arrival of new secret instructions from higher up. As most of China had been Communized long since, it speaks volumes about the continuing isolation of the country districts that even Party Secretary Li was astonished and excited by the sudden orders to merge all Hardscrabble's collective farms in one vast labor camp. For a fortnight, the secret instructions were secretly discussed by the District's party members and activisits.

"But there are always big mouths among the cadres," explained Chief Clerk Cheng, the escaped cadre who is the source of this story. "So the people heard, and many killed their pigs and ate them."

The pig-eating was a natural reaction to the new stage on the road to the earthly paradise. For now everythig, literally everything but the clothes the people stood up in, was to be handed over to the all-powerful, all-nourishing state. Articles of personal use were classified as "means of subsistence" and left to the people. All else was classified as "means of production"—even cooking pots—and all "means of production" were taken by the commune. Even so, the people were not unhappy when Party Secretary Li called them together in a series of big meetings to explain the commune to them.

"It was necessary to go by steps, in order to avoid trouble from the reactionaries and counter revolutionaries," explained Chief Clerk Cheng, who still uses the old jargon. "Everything was promised from free haircuts to free medical care and especially plenty of free food, and this raised the people's hopes. Of course none of the promises were kept. I did get one free haircut; but that was all."

So the commune built its mess halls, for now no one was to eat at home in the old bourgeois way. They were rough shacks, constructed in the ruins of the temples, with the bits of building material the great backyard blast furnace had not consumed. "The plan for barracks for the people could not be fulfilled," because there was nothing to build them with. But the mess halls grandly opened, offering a first menu of rice gruel for two meals and cooked rice for the tthird meal; and Party Secretary Li pointed out that a rice diet like this was truly luxurious in view of the bad harvest that summer.

"Earlier, he had made a speech announcing a record harvest," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "But naturally all the people knew he was just blowing up the balloon, as they call it."

At first, while the ancient partitions between the fields were removed "for tractors," the discontent was not too great. The winter crops, wheat and barley in the rice land and corn in the sweet potato fields, were planted on schedule. But before long the commune's slender rice stocks began to run out, and soon the mess halls were serving only sweet potatoes.

"They were not the best sweet potatoes either," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "The state took the best. But if you had good credits, you could have your sweet potatoes prepared in several different ways. And the commune also ha da shop in the village where you could buy a special dish of sweet potatoes cooked with shellfish and flour paste. But few had the money to buy."

By the onset of winter, the people were very hungry—so hungry that at one of the self-criticism meetings there was an outburst of protest from the farmers who said they could not work their allotted twelve to sixteen hours a day on such a diet. After that Party Secretary Li allowed top graded workers a cup of rice gruel once a day. But another secret instruction from higher up, that the entire winter crop wa sto be delivered or sold to the state, eventually leaked out. After that, the work in the fields fell off frighteningly.

"Cadres and farmers are like cats and mice," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "When the cats are away the mice play—but the farmers instead of playing just don't work. Finally Party Secretary Li had to send the militia into the fields with their rifles, seven militiamen to each work team of thirty farmers. Six stacked their rifles and worked in the field, too, and the seventh guarded the weapons.

So the people of Hardscrabble, daily more famished, did their field labor at gun-point. They were famished in the midst of plenty, too, for the granaries of the state's crop bureau were bulging and the commune still had many animals despite the pig-killing. But every egg that was laid, every pig that was slaughtered had to be delivered to the People's Liberation Army, which was in heavy force in Fukien after the attack on Quemoy.

SEAWAY'S FIRST YEAR — Operations of the St. Lawrence seaway linking the Atlantic ocean and the Great Lakes for large cargo and passenger vessels are not going as smoothly as planned. In this, its first shipping season, the tonnage handled is expected to fall 20 per cent below earlier estimates.

Revenues will also run about 20 per cent below estimates, meaning that both the United States and Canada are faced with larger than expected deficits.

The seaway was expected to run at a loss for its first 10 years of operations, then pay itself off in 40 more years. It's too early to tell, but if this trend should continue for several more years, toll rates will have to be hiked.

Several factors have combined to cut down the volume of tonnage on the seaway. Foremost has been the steel strike, which has cut down on the shipments of ore from Canada to the huge steel mills along the lake shores.

Ships' captains and crews, inexperienced in lake and seaway navigation, have experienced a number of accidents which have tied up some of the locks for many hours and seriously delayed other shipping.

Finally, some shippers have been reluctant to desert tried and true methods of shipping their products and materials.

However, like the old Brooklyn Dodger fans, the cry among seaway circles is "wait 'til next year." They are confident that with the return of normal business conditions, the seaway will come through.

"Wash Sales"

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — For the second time in a year, the SEC has a case involving what it says were "wash sales" in the shares of Artloom Industries, Inc., listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange.

This is one of the enterprises of Hyman Marcus, whose name figures in both cases.

In the first case, a virtual corner existed for a time in Artloom shares, until a crackup in the price.

Marcus, along with an over-the-counter brokerage firm — J. A. Latimer & Co. — signed an SEC stipulation in that case, admitting "wash sales" in Artloom and U.S. Hoffman Machinery shares.

As an aftermath of that case Marcus resigned as a special partner in a Stock Exchange firm and as board chairman of U. S. Hoffman Machinery.

The latest case, the SEC charges, involves "wash sales" in Artloom by a young man who lived in Marcus' neighborhood and who, according to the SEC affidavit, said he had been promised a $15,000 job by Marcus. Marcus denies the job promise.

The young man — Robert Bialkin — placed substantial orders with 12 brokerage firms to buy Artloom shares, according to the SEC. He did not pay for the shares, "nor did he possess the means to do so," the SEC said.

The SEC affidavit says that, according to Bialkin, Marcus advised him he was interested in insuring that the price of Artloom shares did not fall below 11.

In the period complained of — Sept. 21 to Oct. 27 — Artloom shares had a big spurt in activity on the Stock Exchange and a price swing of from 10⅝ to 14⅞. The stock closed last night at $10.75.

The following table shows the Stock Exchange weekly volume of trading, the range and closing price for Artloom for the weeks ended:

	Volume		High	Low	Close
Sept. 25	9,400	shares	11⅞	10⅝	11⅞
Oct. 2	25,000	"	13½	11¾	13¼
Oct. 9	17,400	"	13½	12⅞	13⅜
Oct. 16	26,800	"	14⅛	13	13⅞
Oct. 23	47,700	"	14⅝	12¾	13⅞
Oct. 30	60,500	"	14⅞	11⅛	11½
Nov. 6	33,700	"	11¾	10¾	10⅞

Last year Artloom shares ran up from 3¾ to 27⅝, and fell from the high to $10 in one week.

In this latest case, 12 brokerage firms were used, and this reporter learns that they were all members of the N. Y. Stock Exchange, including the firm in which Marcus for a time was a limited partner.

The Stock Exchange has a "know your customer" rule. If, as the SEC affidavit says, Bialkin never put up the money and didn't have the means to do so, the Stock Exchange didn't know their customer very well — if at all.

Enrico Caruso's Last Illness Is Recalled

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Enrico Caruso bled from the mouth during a performance, and to this day many people believe he died eventually from cancer of the larynx, tongue, or lungs. This theme was followed in the motion picture, "The Great Caruso," and the dramatic appeal of the legend might have continued forever were it not for the curiosity of Robert T. Pritchard of Winston-Salem, S. C.

Dr. Pritchard's survey of events leading to Caruso's death was reported in the July issue of Surgery, Gynecology, and Obstetrics. The singer had been healthy prior to his final illness. But he approached the 1920 opera season with considerable weariness because of a strenuous summer tour. He complained of a persistent cold and headaches.

He consulted a practitioner of some sort, who put zinc plates on his abdomen, sandbags on the zinc plates, and passed an electric current thru the body. Mrs. Caruso, an American, was suspicious of these treatments but could not convince her husband, even though he received no relief from them.

Early in December, Caruso developed cough and pain in the chest and his practitioner decided the tenor had neuralgia. Three days later, he coughed up blood while appearing as Nemorino in "L'elisir d'amore." The practitioner asserted the hemorrhage came from a broken vein in back of the tongue.

The star continued singing but gave his last performance on Christmas eve. Because of the holiday his practitioner could not be located and the well known physician who was called diagnosed the condition as pleurisy and pneumonia. Pus was drained from the lung cavity but Caruso never recovered completely. The family sailed for Italy in May of 1921 so Caruso could convalesce in the sun.

One day in July Mrs. Caruso returned from an hour at the beach to find an old man probing a scar on her husband's chest. The next day his temperature was 101 degrees. Abscesses developed in various parts of his body, including the kidneys. The great tenor died on Aug. 2, 1921. Had Caruso lived today, penicillin or other antibiotic would have cured him in less than a week, provided he accepted competent care.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

MURMUR IS PAINLESS

C. P. writes: Does a heart murmur cause chest pain?

REPLY

A murmur is the sound made by a defective heart valve, eddy currents, or brushing of the heart against the lung. The sound itself is not painful but the cause of the murmur may produce chest distress.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

The time has come for the United States to assert itself as a nation against a petty little tyrant who employs anti-Yanquiism to keep himself in power. Fidel Castro needs a target to stir up his mob but can the United States tolerate his making us his target? Must we tolerate it?

Cuba's two principal sources of income derive from the United States. One is the tourist trade which, in the latter years of the Batista regime, became the leading source of income and the tourists were mostly Americans; the second source, of course, is sugar of which commodity Cuba has been the largest producer in the world.

The United States permits Cuba to provide more than one-third of the sugar consumption of the United States, over 3,000,000 tons a year. The United States pays Cuba three cents a pound more than Cuba could get on the world market. In a word, the United States pays double the world price for sugar and Cuba gets an additional $160,000,000 a year thereby.

If Castro desecrates the American flag again, if he makes any more anti-American speeches, we ought to stop buying sugar in Cuba. The United States can purchase all the sugar it requires within the United States and in Mexico and the Philippines. Castro might attempt to sell his sugar to the Russians but it is doubtful whether they would pay the price the United States pays by law to maintain the economy of Cuba and it is more doubtful that they would want to disturb the economy of the Ukraine, a large beet sugar grower, by bringing in an enormous Cuban crop.

Fidel Castro, like many revolutionists, needs to keep himself in power either by genuine reforms or by developing a foreign target against which he hurls imprecations. It is unsound for the United States to tolerate Castro's impudence because it sets a bad example for other Latin-American countries. There needs to be dignity in such matters.

The United States recognized Castro too early and too rapidly. The State Department assumed that he was a reformer who would end the reign of a dictator. It has never been explained why dictators are bad in some countries while acceptable in others. Stalin was an absolute dictator as Khrushchev declared him to be at the 20th Congress of the Russian Communist Party in his Cult of Personality speech. Nevertheless, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat and dined with Stalin and we entertained Khrushchev who is much like Stalin.

We objected to Batista because he was a dictator but took Castro to our hearts without much knowledge of the man and surely without foreknowledge that he would attempt to arouse all of Latin America against us and stimulate an attack on the Panama Canal. This we do not need to take from anybody. The soft policy toward Castro was probably inspired by those in the State Department who believe that when a man shouts, Democracy!, he must be accepted as an honest and decent person. Do they not know the allegory of "stop thief!"?

The United States remains the best market in the world for the sale of raw materials and manufactured goods. It is sound to use this advantageous market for political purposes. If Cuba seeks to disturb the Latin-American world to the disadvantage of the United States, this country need not assist Cuba economically so that it might be able to do us more harm. That is not only turning the other cheek but it is humiliating ourselves before a bewhiskered clown who seems so much like our own anarchical Beatniks.

Cuba is now a definite peril to the United States. It has interfered in the affairs of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama. It is too close to Florida to permit it to fall into the hands of Moscow-controlled Latin-American Communists. It stimulates rebellion in other countries and maintains an agitational atmosphere which imperils the peace of the Caribbean.

It is bad enough that Castro exists. He need not be subsidized by the United States. His government is being subsidized by the United States despite the fact that American property and life have been endangered and are constantly being threatened.

Our policy of weakness makes no sense at all—not in the world as we find it today.

Mikoyan Starts Significant Tour Of Latin American Countries Soon

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan arrives in Mexico City next week it will mark the first time in the 42 years since the Bolshevik Revolution that any top-ranking Russian Communist has visited Latin America—except as a refugee from Stalin's vengeance.

This fact alone lends singular significance to the trip of the Kremlin's No. 2 man. For it was in Mexico City, 18 years ago, that exiled Leon Trotsky was butchered by ax-wielding "Jacques Mornard (real name: Ramon Mercader), still serving his 20-year sentence for murder.

Mikoyan is going to the Mexican capital to inaugurate an exposition on Soviet science, industry, and culture, set up at a cost of $500,000—the same exhibit shown earlier this year in New York City. It will now include a Lunik I reproduction, a scale model of the atomic ice-breaker Lenin, and huge blowups of pictures of the moon's far side.

Mexico was picked as the site of the exposition, Soviet embassy officials say, because of that country's "growing social, economic, and technical importance in Latin America." But the Mikoyan tour will also include Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, and perhaps Cuba and Colombia.

By an interesting "coincidence" the exposition dates—Nov. 22 to Dec. 15—closely parallel those of Mexico's big second annual review of world film festivals—and both events take place in the same building, Mexico City's 13,000-seat national auditorium.

Note — Mexican officials estimate that about 1,500,000 persons will view the Soviet exhibits during their 24-hour stand. The Russians have set the admission fee at a rock-bottom 1 peso, or 8 cents in U. S. currency.

Blowing the whistle on phony television commercials—In what must be the hottest commercial on television, the announcer sets fire to a car polished with Hutchinson's waterproof wax. "The only reason we burn the car," he explains dramatically, "is to show you that you positively cannot get down through that siliconized finish." . . . The Federal Trade Commission, however, has now splashed cold water on the "flaming auto" commercial. The flash fire doesn't burn long enough to damage the car, the FTC claims. Since heat rises, it doesn't have time to burn through the "siliconized" finish—or any other finish . . . The FTC also frowns upon the Rolaid commercials, which show stomach acid burning a hole through a napkin. The announcer suggests that Rolaids will relieve this dangerous acidity. What actually eats through the napkin, however, is hydrochloric acid, which may be found in the stomach but never in such concentrated form as to disintegrate napkins . . . The National Better Business Bureau has stated that the Ted Bates advertising agency is one of those responsible for jamming undesirable advertising down the throats of the TV networks. The bureau tells this column that the Ted Bates agency specializes in "hard sell" or high-pressure advertising copy and won't permit the networks to change a word. The Television Code Review Board found the Ted Bates commercials plugging hemorrhoid preparation "H" so objectionable that it withdrew its seal of acceptance . . . In most cases, however, the networks permit Madison Avenue to do as it pleases.

Appeal For Help

The Cuban pilots who were freed by Fidel Castro's military tribunal only to be retried after Castro expressed his disapproval of the verdict, have smuggled a dramatic message out of their Isle of Pines prison appealing for help.

In the scrawled note to Col. Fred Hook, former chief of the Air Force Mission in Cuba, the pilots plead: "Please do something. We can't stand it any longer. We are slaves working in the marble mines. Food has worms . . . We can't believe the USAF abandoned us that in some way belong to their reserve. Protest! Claim us, rescue us—anything, but don't let (sic) us here dying a thousand deaths. Help!"

The wadded note was slipped to a pilot's wife who was permitted to visit her husband at the Isle of Pines, known as Cuba's Alcatraz. She managed to smuggle it past the prison guard.

The imprisoned pilots addressed their appeal to Colonel Hook apparently because he had arranged for them to take flight training in Texas during the early 1950's.

The U. S. Navy is now armed with Terrier missiles which, thanks to boosters, can knock down subsonic planes (flying less than 700 mph) as high as 40,000 feet. The admirals won't say what they'll do, however, if the attacking planes refuse to fly as slow as 700 mph and as low as 40,000 feet . . . Clark Air Force base outside Manila has been advertising scotch, vodka, gin, champagne, brandy, and wines for sale in Philippin newspapers. When the Pentagon raised an eyebrow, the Thirteenth Air Force explained that "the subject matter became surplus as a result of closing certain recreational facilities," then added hopefully: "Legal office advises no misinterpretation or violation of regulations in this matter." . . . Mamie Eisenhower quietly arranged for two wrought-iron tablets to be installed last summer in the White House rose garden and another flower bed. Inscribed on the tablets is this verse: "The kiss of the sun for pardon, The song of the birds for mirth; One is nearer God's heart in a garden than anywhere else on earth." . . . Prosperous Chinese Corner Becomes Labor Camp

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG.

This is the story of the transformation of a once tranquil, once prosperous corner of old China, on the Fukien coast, into one of the agricultural labor camps that the Chinese Communists call "People's Communes."

This district, which I have called Hardscrabble because all the names in this true story have had to be changed, had already made considerable contributions to China's "great leap forward." By autumn, 1958, the Hardscrabble people had lost their ancestors' graves, the temples of their faith, their bits of jewelry, and worst of all, much of their summer crop. This last loss occurred because Communist Party Secretary Li had all but driven the folk from the land in order to realize Chairman Mao's latest inspiration, the backyard iron and steel furnace which produced no iron or steel.

The neglected fields yielded so poorly that the heads of Hardscrabble's seven collective farms dared not report their true crop totals. The state then took 40 per cent of the sweet potatoes and no less than 60 per cent of the rice under one pretext or another, basing its takings, too, on the over-reported crop totals. Thus the Hardscrabble cupboard was left all but bare.

Meanwhile, in September, the combined party-and-government headquarters in two rooms in Hardscrabble's largest village had been thrown into a convulsion of excitement by the arrival of new secret instructions from higher up. As most of China had been Communized long since, it speaks volumes about the continuing isolation of the country districts that even Party Secretary Li was astonished and excited by the sudden orders to merge all Hardscrabble's collective farms in one vast labor camp. For a fortnight, the secret instructions were secretly discussed by the District's party members and activisits.

"But there are always big mouths among the cadres," explained Chief Clerk Cheng, the escaped cadre who is the source of this story. "So the people heard, and many killed their pigs and ate them."

The pig-eating was a natural reaction to the new stage on the road to the earthly paradise. For now everythig, literally everything but the clothes the people stood up in, was to be handed over to the all-powerful, all-nourishing state. Articles of personal use were classified as "means of subsistence" and left to the people. All else was classified as "means of production"—even cooking pots—and all "means of production" were taken by the commune. Even so, the people were not unhappy when Party Secretary Li called them together in a series of big meetings to explain the commune to them.

"It was necessary to go by steps, in order to avoid trouble from the reactionaries and counter revolutionaries," explained Chief Clerk Cheng, who still uses the old jargon. "Everything was promised from free haircuts to free medical care and especially plenty of free food, and this raised the people's hopes. Of course none of the promises were kept. I did get one free haircut; but that was all."

So the commune built its mess halls, for now no one was to eat at home in the old bourgeois way. They were rough shacks, constructed in the ruins of the temples, with the bits of building material the great backyard blast furnace had not consumed. "The plan for barracks for the people could not be fulfilled," because there was nothing to build them with. But the mess halls grandly opened, offering a first menu of rice gruel for two meals and cooked rice for the tthird meal; and Party Secretary Li pointed out that a rice diet like this was truly luxurious in view of the bad harvest that summer.

"Earlier, he had made a speech announcing a record harvest," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "But naturally all the people knew he was just blowing up the balloon, as they call it."

At first, while the ancient partitions between the fields were removed "for tractors," the discontent was not too great. The winter crops, wheat and barley in the rice land and corn in the sweet potato fields, were planted on schedule. But before long the commune's slender rice stocks began to run out, and soon the mess halls were serving only sweet potatoes.

"They were not the best sweet potatoes either," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "The state took the best. But if you had good credits, you could have your sweet potatoes prepared in several different ways. And the commune also ha da shop in the village where you could buy a special dish of sweet potatoes cooked with shellfish and flour paste. But few had the money to buy."

By the onset of winter, the people were very hungry—so hungry that at one of the self-criticism meetings there was an outburst of protest from the farmers who said they could not work their allotted twelve to sixteen hours a day on such a diet. After that Party Secretary Li allowed top graded workers a cup of rice gruel once a day. But another secret instruction from higher up, that the entire winter crop wa sto be delivered or sold to the state, eventually leaked out. After that, the work in the fields fell off frighteningly.

"Cadres and farmers are like cats and mice," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "When the cats are away the mice play—but the farmers instead of playing just don't work. Finally Party Secretary Li had to send the militia into the fields with their rifles, seven militiamen to each work team of thirty farmers. Six stacked their rifles and worked in the field, too, and the seventh guarded the weapons.

So the people of Hardscrabble, daily more famished, did their field labor at gun-point. They were famished in the midst of plenty, too, for the granaries of the state's crop bureau were bulging and the commune still had many animals despite the pig-killing. But every egg that was laid, every pig that was slaughtered had to be delivered to the People's Liberation Army, which was in heavy force in Fukien after the attack on Quemoy.

SEAWAY'S FIRST YEAR — Operations of the St. Lawrence seaway linking the Atlantic ocean and the Great Lakes for large cargo and passenger vessels are not going as smoothly as planned. In this, its first shipping season, the tonnage handled is expected to fall 20 per cent below earlier estimates.

Revenues will also run about 20 per cent below estimates, meaning that both the United States and Canada are faced with larger than expected deficits.

The seaway was expected to run at a loss for its first 10 years of operations, then pay itself off in 40 more years. It's too early to tell, but if this trend should continue for several more years, toll rates will have to be hiked.

Several factors have combined to cut down the volume of tonnage on the seaway. Foremost has been the steel strike, which has cut down on the shipments of ore from Canada to the huge steel mills along the lake shores.

Ships' captains and crews, inexperienced in lake and seaway navigation, have experienced a number of accidents which have tied up some of the locks for many hours and seriously delayed other shipping.

Finally, some shippers have been reluctant to desert tried and true methods of shipping their products and materials.

However, like the old Brooklyn Dodger fans, the cry among seaway circles is "wait 'til next year." They are confident that with the return of normal business conditions, the seaway will come through.

"Wash Sales"

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — For the second time in a year, the SEC has a case involving what it says were "wash sales" in the shares of Artloom Industries, Inc., listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange.

This is one of the enterprises of Hyman Marcus, whose name figures in botn cases.

In the first case, a virtual corner existed for a time in Artloom shares, until a crackup in the price.

Marcus, along with an over-the-counter brokerage firm — J. A. Latimer & Co. — signed an SEC stipulation in that case, admitting "wash sales" in Artloom and U.S. Hoffman Machinery shares.

As an aftermath of that case Marcus resigned as a special partner in a Stock Exchange firm and as board chairman of U. S. Hoffman Machinery.

The latest case, the SEC charges, involves "wash sales" in Artloom by a young man who lived in Marcus' neighborhood and who, according to the SEC affidavit, said he had been promised a $15,000 job by Marcus. Marcus denies the job promise.

The young man — Robert Bialkin — placed substantial orders with 12 brokerage firms to buy Artloom shares, according to the SEC. He did not pay for the shares, "nor did he possess the means to do so," the SEC said.

The SEC affidavit says that, according to Bialkin, Marcus advised him he was interested in insuring that the price of Artloom shares did not fall below 11.

In the period complained of — Sept. 21 to Oct. 27 — Artloom shares had a big spurt in activity on the Stock Exchange and a price swing of from 10⅝ to 14⅞. The stock closed last night at $10.75.

The following table shows the Stock Exchange weekly volume of trading, the range and closing price for Artloom for the weeks ended:

	Volume		High	Low	Close
Sept. 25	9,400	shares	11⅞	10⅝	11⅞
Oct. 2	25,000	"	13½	11¾	13¼
Oct. 9	17,400	"	13½	12⅞	13⅜
Oct. 16	26,800	"	14⅛	13	13⅞
Oct. 23	47,700	"	14⅝	12¾	13⅞
Oct. 30	60,500	"	14⅞	11⅛	11½
Nov. 6	33,700	"	11¾	10¾	10⅞

Last year Artloom shares ran up from 3¾ to 27⅝, and fell from the high to $10 in one week.

In this latest case, 12 brokerage firms were used, and this reporter learns that they were all members of the N. Y. Stock Exchange, including the firm in which Marcus for a time was a limited partner.

The Stock Exchange has a "know your customer" rule. If, as the SEC affidavit says, Bialkin never put up the money and didn't have the means to do so, the Stock Exchange didn't know their customer very well — if at all.

Enrico Caruso's Last Illness Is Recalled

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Enrico Caruso bled from the mouth during a performance, and to this day many people believe he died eventually from cancer of the larynx, tongue, or lungs. This theme was followed in the motion picture, "The Great Caruso," and the dramatic appeal of the legend might have continued forever were it not for the curiosity of Robert T. Pritchard of Winston-Salem, S. C.

Dr. Pritchard's survey of events leading to Caruso's death was reported in the July issue of Surgery, Gynecology, and Obstetrics. The singer had been healthy prior to his final illness. But he approached the 1920 opera season with considerable weariness because of a strenuous summer tour. He complained of a persistent cold and headaches.

He consulted a practitioner of some sort, who put zinc plates on his abdomen, sandbags on the zinc plates, and passed an electric current thru the body. Mrs. Caruso, an American, was suspicious of these treatments but could not convince her husband, even though he received no relief from them.

Early in December, Caruso developed cough and pain in the chest and his practitioner decided the tenor had neuralgia. Three days later, he coughed up blood while appearing as Nemorino in "L'elisir d'amore." The practitioner asserted the hemorrhage came from a broken vein in back of the tongue.

The star continued singing but gave his last performance on Christmas eve. Because of the holiday his practitioner could not be located and the well known physician who was called diagnosed the condition as pleurisy and pneumonia. Pus was drained from the lung cavity but Caruso never recovered completely. The family sailed for Italy in May of 1921 so Caruso could convalesce in the sun.

One day in July Mrs. Caruso returned from an hour at the beach to find an old man probing a scar on her husband's chest. The next day his temperature was 101 degrees. Abscesses developed in various parts of his body, including the kidneys. The great tenor died on Aug. 2, 1921. Had Caruso lived today, penicillin or other antibiotic would have cured him in less than a week, provided he accepted competent care.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

MURMUR IS PAINLESS

C. P. writes: Does a heart murmur cause chest pain?

REPLY

A murmur is the sound made by a defective heart valve, eddy currents, or brushing of the heart against the lung. The sound itself is not painful but the cause of the murmur may produce chest distress.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

By TED TROXELL

After enjoying a brief lead in the first quarter, LaSalle's punchless Explorers reverted to their customary form and were steamrollered by the Marauders of Altoona Catholic High School, 25-7, before a handful of fans last night at Fort Hill Stadium.

The loss was the eighth of the season against a single win for the Explorers, who wind up their campaign with Beall on Thanksgiving Day. The invaders from Pennsylvania closed out their 1959 schedule with a record of eight victories and two defeats.

Makes 82-Yard TD Run

Frank Angellatta sprinted 82 yards down the right sidelines after taking Bill Beard's kickoff on his own 18 yard line to give the Irish a touchdown and a 6-6 tie. Tom Simpson kicked the extra point and Coach Don Harden's crew had a 7-6 advantage, a rarity in itself this season, since the Explorers have been shutout in five of their nine contests.

Altoona had taken the lead after Chuck Allese recovered Ron Speir's fumble on the LaSalle 29. Three thrusts at the line accounted for seven yards and on fourth down quarterback Pat Miller, trying to get the necessary yardage for a first himself, sneaked right through the center of the porous Explorer line for 22 yards and a touchdown. Beard's extra point attempt was good, but the Marauders were offsides and the second try was wide.

Get Two First Downs

The Marauders completely dominated the game after LaSalle scored its lone touchdown. The local eleven was able to pick up only two first downs all evening, and one of them came on a 15-yard personal foul penalty against the visitors. The third period proved particularly futile for the Explorers, as they lost the ball three times on pass interceptions.

Quarterback Miller passed for a pair of second period TDs. One of them was a 32-yard toss to halfback Mike Orlando, and the other, on the last play of the first half, was a 34-yarder to end Jake. Henry.

One of the third period pass interceptions set up the Altoona team's final touchdown. Denny McKnight intercepted a Carroll Wilt aerial on the LaSalle 28, and the Marauders, aided by a personal foul infraction against their hosts, moved the ball into paydirt in three running plays, Miller rolling out around the left side eight yards for the six-pointer.

Field Goal Try Wide

The Marauders also attempted a field goal in this period. After moving all the way to the three following Orlando's interception of Jerry Lowery's pass at the Altoona 47, a 15-yard penalty set the ball back on the 18. Miller took to the air, but a pair of aerial attempts failed to click and on fourth down Beard tried for a three-pointer. He got plenty of altitude and distance on the ball, but it went slightly wide to the left.

Altoona Catholic racked up a net of 223 yards on the ground and added 169 on seven pass completions for a yardage aggregate of 392. The outplayed Explorers gained a net total of 23 yards rushing and picked up 27 on two pass completions in 16 attempts for a 50-yard effort.

Play-For-Pay Netmen To Mix With Amateurs

Wimbledon Open Is Set For 1961

LONDON (UPI) — Wimbledon has bowed to the inevitable. The play-for-pay tennis boys are to mix with the "amateurs" in a joyful, free-for-all to be known as an "open" tournament in 1961.

It was a sobering thought. But there were no regrets.

It was obvious to one and all at Wimbledon in the last few years that the day of the "all-amateur" lawn tennis tournament was finished. The standard had declined rapidly. What good amateurs there were, packed their suitcases within minutes of winning Wimbledon and hurtled off at jet speed to sign pro.

There has been no official announcement as yet that 1960 will see the last "Simon Pure" Wimbledon. But it will come within a matter of weeks, probably after the International Federation's special committee meeting in Paris next month.

The All - England club, owners of Wimbledon, have okayed it. The British Lawn Tennis Association has okayed it.

It remains only for the International Federation to say "yes" and 82 years of unbroken tradition will be tossed out the window.

In meetings this month, the all-England club and the LTA discussed the awesome thought with some profundity. And according to sources, the members present couldn't raise a "nay" among them.

Westminster Owls Rout Rebels, 40-13

Westminster High School's Owls took over second place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League by crushing South Hagerstown last night at Westminster by the score of 40 to 13.

The win gave the Owls a 5-1 record for the league season. The Rebels are 2-4 for the CVAL campaign.

Jim Shaeffer and Barry Lee scored two touchdowns each for the winners while Mike Smelser and Eugene Hill had one each. Shaeffer made three conversions and Lee one.

Jim Baker and Virgil Nixon scored the losers' touchdowns. Martin kicked the extra point.

Charles Town Meets Clarke County Today

Undefeated Charles Town High School will go after its ninth victory of the season when it faces Clarke County High School of Berryville, Va., today at 2 p.m., at Charles Town.

The Panthers of Coach Dick Harmison will close their regular season by playing Keyser High School at Keyser Friday, November 20.

The Charles Town-Keyser contest will windup the season for tri-state area teams with exception of the two games in Allegany County Thanksgiving Day when Allegany meets Fort Hill and LaSalle plays at Beall.

Keyser will play a post-season game if it qualifies for the West Virginia Class AA finals.

Winfield Plays Ravenswood For Class A Crown

PT. PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI)—The first of three West Virginia high school football champions will be crowned Saturday when Winfield and Ravenswood clash here for the Class A title.

Parkersburg and Bluefield will play for the Class AAA crown Nov. 21 at Charleston. Mullens has clinched a Class AA playoff berth but its opponent was uncertain. Several teams were still in the running for the other spot going into Friday games, including Keyser, Sissonville and Mt. Hope. No date has been set for the Double-A playoff.

Ravenswood and Winfield are identical in many respects. Each has a big line and a stingy defense.

Ravenswood has given up only 50 points while winning nine of 10 games. Unbeaten Winfield has permitted 65 points in 10 games. Both lines average 187 pounds and both have runners in the backfield with good speed.

This is Ravenswood's second playoff crack in three years. It walloped Rupert in the 1957 title game. It is Winfield's second chance in a row. The Generals lost 6-0 to Meadow Bridge last year.

Parkersburg High Drops First Game In Two Years, 14-7

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Parkersburg, the defending state high school champions, dropped their first game in two years Friday night losing a 14-7 clash with Weirton.

But the defeat does not keep the Big Reds from facing Bluefield next Saturday in Charleston for the Class AAA title. Both teams had enough rating points for the season that a loss in the final game would not ruin their championship chances.

The Beavers bested Princeton in a long-standing rivalry 42-19.

In another traditional game, Hinton edged Beckley 13-6 on a 30-yard pass to Eugene Baker with 50 seconds remaining. Logan blasted Williamson 38-18.

Huntington East tripped Huntington 34-6 to make it two seasons in a row for the Pony Express without a victory.

In a mild upset for the evening Clarksburg Roosevelt - Wilson tied Grafton 13-13. It was one of two tie games for the night. Gauley Bridge and Ansted battled 7-all.

Virginia Tech Favored Over Mountaineers

WVU Puts 30-Game Win Streak On Line

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Virginia Tech is favored to put a stop to West Virginia's 30-game, seven-year victory string in the Southern Conference Saturday.

This is the first time since the closing game of the 1952 season that West Virginia has not been favored in an SC game. VPI is not a unanimous pick to upend the Mountaineers, but the composite "lines" make the Gobblers a slight choice.

Some 15,000 to 20,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff at Mountaineer Field. The result likely will have a telling effect on the outcome of the conference race. Both teams stand 2-0 and each has one game left.

The Citadel leads the league with a 4-0 record but faces VMI this week and West Virginia here next week. VPI plays VMI Thanksgiving Day.

Tech has never won the conference crown, coming closest last season when it was runnerup to West Virginia. The Mountaineers won the title by edging the Gobblers 21-20 in a mid-season game at Richmond.

The legality of a two-point conversion by the Mountaineers after their first touchdown was protested by VPI but it stood and was the difference in the result. The Gobblers are still arguing about this.

West Virginia has played a far more rugged schedule than VPI and stands 3-5 on the season, but the Gobblers have been impressive recently. They have racked up four straight high-scoring wins to post a 5-3 mark.

State Attorney General Grills Heavy Champ

Questions Ingemar Johansson 2 Hours

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson, the handsome Swede who won the world heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson last June, was questioned for more than two hours Friday by representatives of the New York State Attorney General's Office.

The attorney general, Louis J. Lefkowitz, is investigating the June bout at Yankee Stadium for possible violations of the Donnelly Act, the state's anti-trust law.

Irving Galt, head of the Litigation Bureau, described Johansson as a "very agreeable, cooperative, patient and helpful witness." When he was asked if he was satisfied that the champion had told everything he knew about the promotional aspects of the June fight, Galt replied, "No comment."

Johansson was subpenaed Thursday night by Lefkowitz and met alone behind closed doors with Galt and other members of the attorney general's staff.

When he emerged from the session, Johansson told reporters he had been asked to tell the story of his fight with Patterson.

"I did, as well as I could remember," he said.

Galt said Johansson was asked a number of questions but he refused to discuss the nature of the queries or of the champion's answer. Galt said he had no idea whether Johansson would be recalled for further questioning.

Billy Casper Has Record 64 In Louisiana

Leads In Lafayette Open With Card 133

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — National Open Champion Billy Casper humiliated par with a record-breaking 64 Friday and lumbered into the lead at the halfway mark of the $15,000 Lafayette Open Golf Tournament.

The 28-year-old putting stylist from Apple Valley, Calif., showed a 36-hole total of 133 and led runnerup Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., by three strokes.

Casper's round was the lowest competitive mark ever posted over the 6,700-yard Oakburne Country Club course. He needed only 27 putts in carding six birdies. He didn't go over par on any hole.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., and Bob Watson of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., who were tied for the first-round lead with 66s, skidded well down the ladder Friday as both shot 75s.

Trailing the top pair at 137 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., George Bayer of Gleneagles, Ill., and Bob Goalsby of Crystal River, Fla.

North Hagerstown Edges Cadets, 7-6

Bob Caesar's point-after-touchdown in the first period was the margin of victory as North Hagerstown defeated Frederick High School in a C.V.A. League game last night at Frederick by the score of 7-6.

Tom Hawkins recovered a Frederick fumble and ran 45 yards for the North High touchdown in the first period.

An 18-yard run by Ken Wilbourne produced the Frederick td in the second period. The kick for the extra point was wide.

North High wound up its CVAL season with a 3-3 record while Frederick won one, lost four and played one tie game.

Eagles Cop Match, 2-1

The Cumberland Eagles won two out of three games from Peck's Cafe last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Jake Steinla paced the Eagles with 25 points while Gus Peretti and Bob Goldsworthy of Peck's tied at 18 points each.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

The city of New York, which kicked up a huge baseball fuss with a push for the new Continental League, is causing a similar stir on a world-wide basis in professional soccer.

As part of an over-all plan to bring more sports into the big town, Mayor Wagner has endorsed a new pro soccer league with a New York entry and 10 top-flight foreign teams to compete in a round-robin league, all games to be played in New York starting next spring. . The league already has bagged Sweden's red hot Norrkopping Football Club, eight time Swedish champs, in a soccer coup equivalent to persuading the New York Yankees to jump from the American League to the Continental.

Blind Wants Gate

Eddie Blind, official starter at the Laurel Race Track, wants to use an American starting gate for next year's $100,000 Laurel International. . . For the convenience of foreign horses in the race, walk-up starts were used prior to this year and in last Wednesday's running an elastic barrier was employed. . . But in both systems, Blind had a slight linguistic problem relaying instructions through interpreters to foreign jocks.

"I can train any horse to come out of an American gate in just five days," says Blind. . . He hopes to sell Laurel President John Shapiro on the idea of switching to a gate in 1960.

Oklahoma football scouts keeping tabs on Army against Villanova at West Point last week may have learned the secret of how to stop Army's lonely end, Bill Carpenter. . . Villanova didn't do it but came so close on two near-miss pass interceptions—with an open road to the goal line if the interception had been made—it may give the Sooners a big defensive idea for their Army showdown Saturday.

Classifying Schools — Larry Earns Plaque — Hansgen At Daytona — Vie At Morgantown

By C. V. BURNS

KENWOOD HIGH School of Baltimore County now has the largest enrollment of any Class A school in Maryland, according to figures received by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Enrollment figures are based on the number attending the three top grades in the high schools.

Kenwood's enrollment is 1,322, Bladensburg is second with 1,249 and Catonsville third with 1,116.

And do you know that Fort Hill and Allegany, which once upon a time were among the top ten, are now 23rd and 25th respectively with 450 and 441!

Class A schools are those with an enrollment of 250 or more. Class B covers 100 to 249 and Class C comprises schools with less than 100 enrollment.

There are 37 Class A schools, 51 Class B and 42 Class C in Maryland.

Valley High is 13th among the Class B schools with 165, Bruce is 18th with 151 and Mt. Savage 21st with 135. Northern of Garrett County is 11th with 177. Aberdeen and Franklin head that classification with 242 each.

Brunswick of Frederick County heads Class C with 98. Oldtown is 18th with 60 and Flintstone 22nd with 50.

Here's the order in which Class A schools are ranked:

1. Kenwood 1322. 2. Bladensburg 1249. 3. Catonsville 1116. 4. Montgomery Blair 1106. 5. Glen Burnie 1043. 6. Dundalk 1038. 7. Suitland 1018. 8. Parkville 994. 9. Bethesda-Chevy Chase 986. 10. Northeastern 963. 11. Towson 872. 12. Walter Johnson 830. 13. Wheaton 823. 14. Northwood 780. 15. High Point 723. 16. Milford Mill 715. 17. Frederick 679. 18. North Hagerstown 541. 19. Annapolis 511. 20. Wicomico of Salisbury 510. 21. South Hagerstown 503. 22. Brooklyn 497.

23. FORT HILL 450. 24. Bates 442. 25. ALLEGANY 441. 25. Richard Montgomery (Rockville) 441. 26. Bel Air 400. 27. Fairmont Heights 370. 28. Oxon Hill 359. 29. Howard County (Ellicott, City) 335. 30. Arundel 11. 31. Westminster 328. 32. Sparrows Point 307. 33. BEALL, FROSTBURG 279. 34. Gaithersburg 261. 35. SOUTHERN, OAKLAND 260. 36. Sherwood 257.

LARRY BURNS, who once was noted as a strikeout king in the Cumberland Hot Stove League, is now quite a "pitcher" with the unbeaten Charles Town High School Panthers football team.

He received a plaque the other day from the Jefferson County Jaycees for being one of the "most valuable players" in the Charles Town-Harpers Ferry game which the Panthers won by the score of 49-12.

Burns threw three touchdown passes against the Ferrians and sprinted 57 yards with a punt return for another score.

ONE of the keenest races in American sports car history is expected tomorrow at Daytona Beach's International Speedway in Florida.

Walter Hansgen, of Westfield, N.J., winner of four Cumberland sports car feature races (1953, 1956, 1958 and 1959) and George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., come to Daytona tied for top honors in the Class C modified division—the section of racing that long has been recognized as producing the American sports car driver of the year.

Hansgen, 1958 national champion, will bid for his second straight in one of Briggs Cunningham's Lister Jaguars. This is Hansgen's first trip to the Daytona track, America's fastest automobile racing course.

The championship race in the C modified division will cover 40 laps of the course, just a bit over 150 miles. Eddie Crawford, Northfield, Ill., will be Hansgen's Lister Jaguar teammate.

Sport car racers, as a rule, compete on flat or slightly banked twisting courses. Daytona's speedway for sports car racing purposes combines a 1.31 mile flat and curving course with 2.5 miles of high speed 31-degree banked asphalt. In a 500 mile stock car race held there the average speed of the winner was better than 135 miles an hour.

ELK GARDEN and Berkeley Springs will be among the nearby West Virginia high schools competing in the second annual cross country meet today sponsored by West Virginia University at the Morgantown Country Club.

Coach Paul Kalbaugh and his squad of 12 harriers will leave this morning for the scene of the hill and dale activity. Seven of the 12 will compete for team honors. Last year in their initial test Elk Garden had runners finish in 16th and 17th places.

Coach Paul Hodges and Allen Goldstrom left yesterday with seven Berkeley Springs boys who will represent the Morgan county school.

One hundred and fifty participants from schools in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania are expected to be on hand for the meet.

Pittsburgh Central Catholic is the defending champion.

Charleston's Roger Meador will defend his individual title and meet record of 10:22.

LATEST NEWS from Gotham is that Coach Sal Somma's New Dorp (Staten Island) High School football team is among the four survivors that will battle it out for the championship of Greater New York City. Twenty schools fielded grid teams there.

New Dorp, only undefeated and untied team among the 20, posted its 5th straight win at the expense of Thomas Jefferson High, 28-22.

The Staten Islanders play James Monroe in one semi-final. Flushing opposes Tilden in the other contest.

Ned Twyman Is Dropped By Duquesne

Wolfe Also Given Release By Coach

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Junior backcourt man Ned Twyman, brother of Cincinnati Royals' ace Jack Twyman, was one of two players dropped from the Duquesne University varsity basketball squad Friday.

Out along with Twyman was senior reserve guard Mike Wolff of Brooklyn, N.Y.

"They did not fit into our plans this year and the door is not open for their return," was head coach Red Manning's only comment.

Twyman, a native Pittsburgher, was a regular for the Dukes last season after transferring from Notre Dame. Wolff also a backcourt man, appeared in eight games for Duquesne last season but never was a starter.

The dismissal of Twyman and Wolff from the squad, plus injuries to two players, left Manning with only a seven-man squad as he prepared for the season opener against St. Vincents College Dec. 1.

By TED TROXELL

After enjoying a brief lead in the first quarter, LaSalle's punchless Explorers reverted to their customary form and were steamrollered by the Marauders of Altoona Catholic High School, 25-7, before a handful of fans last night at Fort Hill Stadium.

The loss was the eighth of the season against a single win for the Explorers, who wind up their campaign with Beall on Thanksgiving Day. The invaders from Pennsylvania closed out their 1959 schedule with a record of eight victories and two defeats.

Makes 82-Yard TD Run

Frank Angellatta sprinted 82 yards down the right sidelines after taking Bill Beard's kickoff on his own 18 yard line to give the Irish a touchdown and a 6-6 tie. Tom Simpson kicked the extra point and Coach Don Harden's crew had a 7-6 advantage, a rarity in itself this season, since the Explorers have been shutout in five of their nine contests.

Altoona had taken the lead after Chuck Allese recovered Ron Speir's fumble on the LaSalle 29. Three thrusts at the line accounted for seven yards and on fourth down quarterback Pat Miller, trying to get the necessary yardage for a first himself, sneaked right through the center of the porous Explorer line for 22 yards and a touchdown. Beard's extra point attempt was good, but the Marauders were offsides and the second try was wide.

Get Two First Downs

The Marauders completely dominated the game after LaSalle scored its lone touchdown. The local eleven was able to pick up only two first downs all evening, and one of them came on a 15-yard personal foul penalty against the visitors. The third period proved particularly futile for the Explorers, as they lost the ball three times on pass interceptions.

Quarterback Miller passed for a pair of second period TDs. One of them was a 32-yard toss to halfback Mike Orlando, and the other, on the last play of the first half, was a 34-yarder to end Jake Henry.

One of the third period pass interceptions set up the Altoona team's final touchdown. Denny McKnight intercepted a Carroll Wilt aerial on the LaSalle 28, and the Marauders, aided by a personal foul infraction against their hosts, moved the ball into paydirt in three running plays, Miller rolling out around the left side eight yards for the six-pointer.

Field Goal Try Wide

The Marauders also attempted a field goal in this period. After moving all the way to the three following Orlando's interception of Jerry Lowery's pass at the Altoona 47, a 15-yard penalty set the ball back on the 18. Miller took to the air, but a pair of aerial attempts failed to click and on fourth down Beard tried for a three-pointer. He got plenty of altitude and distance on the ball, but it went slightly wide to the left.

Altoona Catholic racked up a net of 223 yards on the ground and added 169 on seven pass completions for a yardage aggregate of 392. The outplayed Explorers gained a net total of 23 yards rushing and picked up 27 on two pass completions in 16 attempts for a 50-yard effort.

Play-For-Pay Netmen To Mix With Amateurs

Wimbledon Open Is Set For 1961

LONDON (UPI) — Wimbledon has bowed to the inevitable. The play-for-pay tennis boys are to mix with the "amateurs" in a joyful, free-for-all to be known as an "open" tournament in 1961.

It was a sobering thought. But there were no regrets.

It was obvious to one and all at Wimbledon in the last few years that the day of the "all-amateur" lawn tennis tournament was finished. The standard had declined rapidly. What good amateurs there were, packed their suitcases within minutes of winning Wimbledon and hurtled off at jet speed to sign pro.

There has been no official announcement as yet that 1960 will see the last "Simon Pure" Wimbledon. But it will come within a matter of weeks, probably after the International Federation's special committee meeting in Paris next month.

The All - England club, owners of Wimbledon, have okayed it. The British Lawn Tennis Association has okayed it.

It remains only for the International Federation to say "yes" and 82 years of unbroken tradition will be tossed out the window.

In meetings this month, the all-England club and the LTA discussed the awesome thought with some profundity. And according to sources, the members present couldn't raise a "nay" among them.

Westminster Owls Rout Rebels, 40-13

Westminster High School's Owls took over second place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League by crushing South Hagerstown last night at Westminster by the score of 40 to 13.

The win gave the Owls a 5-1 record for the league season. The Rebels are 2-4 for the CVAL campaign.

Jim Shaeffer and Barry Lee scored two touchdowns each for the winners while Mike Smelser and Eugene Hill had one each. Shaeffer made three conversions and Lee one.

Jim Baker and Virgil Nixon scored the losers' touchdowns. Martin kicked the extra point.

Charles Town Meets Clarke County Today

Undefeated Charles Town High School will go after its ninth victory of the season when it faces Clarke County High School of Berryville, Va., today at 2 p.m., at Charles Town.

The Panthers of Coach Dick Harmison will close their regular season by playing Keyser High School at Keyser Friday, November 20.

The Charles Town-Keyser contest will windup the season for tri-state area teams with exception of the two games in Allegany County Thanksgiving Day when Allegany meets Fort Hill and LaSalle plays at Beall.

Keyser will play a post-season game if it qualifies for the West Virginia Class AA finals.

Winfield Plays Ravenswood For Class A Crown

PT. PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) —The first of three West Virginia high school football champions will be crowned Saturday when Winfield and Ravenswood clash here for the Class A title.

Parkersburg and Bluefield will play for the Class AAA crown Nov. 21 at Charleston. Mullens has clinched a Class AA playoff berth but its opponent was uncertain. Several teams were still in the running for the other spot going into Friday games, including Keyser, Sissonville and Mt. Hope. No date has been set for the Double-A playoff.

Ravenswood and Winfield are identical in many respects. Each has a big line and a stingy defense.

Ravenswood has given up only 50 points while winning nine of 10 games. Unbeaten Winfield has permitted 65 points in 10 games. Both lines average 187 pounds and both have runners in the backfield with good speed.

This is Ravenswood's second playoff crack in three years. It walloped Rupert in the 1957 title game. It is Winfield's second chance in a row. The Generals lost 6-0 to Meadow Bridge last year.

Parkersburg High Drops First Game In Two Years, 14-7

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Parkersburg, the defending state high school champions, dropped their first game in two years Friday night losing a 14-7 clash with Weirton.

But the defeat does not keep the Big Reds from facing Bluefield next Saturday in Charleston for the Class AAA title. Both teams had enough rating points for the season that a loss in the final game would not ruin their championship chances.

The Beavers bested Princeton in a long-standing rivalry 42-19.

In another traditional game, Hinton edged Beckley 13-6 on a 30-yard pass to Eugene Baker with 50 seconds remaining. Logan blasted Williamson 38-18.

Huntington East tripped Huntington 34-6 to make it two seasons in a row for the Pony Express without a victory.

In a mild upset for the evening Clarksburg Roosevelt - Wilson tied Grafton 13-13. It was one of two tie games for the night. Gauley Bridge and Ansted battled 7-all.

Virginia Tech Favored Over Mountaineers

WVU Puts 30-Game Win Streak On Line

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Virginia Tech is favored to put a stop to West Virginia's 30-game, seven-year victory string in the Southern Conference Saturday.

This is the first time since the closing game of the 1952 season that West Virginia has not been favored in an SC game. VPI is not a unanimous pick to upend the Mountaineers, but the composite "lines" make the Gobblers a slight choice.

Some 15,000 to 20,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff at Mountaineer Field. The result likely will have a telling effect on the outcome of the conference race. Both teams stand 2-0 and each has one game left.

The Citadel leads the league with a 4-0 record but faces VMI this week and West Virginia here next week. VPI plays VMI Thanksgiving Day.

Tech has never won the conference crown, coming closest last season when it was runnerup to West Virginia. The Mountaineers won the title by edging the Gobblers 21-20 in a mid-season game at Richmond.

The legality of a two-point conversion by the Mountaineers after their first touchdown was protested by VPI but it stood and was the difference in the result. The Gobblers are still arguing about this.

West Virginia has played a far more rugged schedule than VPI and stands 3-5 on the season, but the Gobblers have been impressive recently. They have racked up four straight high-scoring wins to post a 5-3 mark.

State Attorney General Grills Heavy Champ

Questions Ingemar Johansson 2 Hours

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson, the handsome Swede who won the world heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson last June, was questioned for more than two hours Friday by representatives of the New York State Attorney General's Office.

The attorney general, Louis J. Lefkowitz, is investigating the June bout at Yankee Stadium for possible violations of the Donnelly Act, the state's anti-trust law.

Irving Galt, head of the Litigation Bureau, described Johansson as a "very agreeable, cooperative, patient and helpful witness." When he was asked if he was satisfied that the champion had told everything, he knew about the promotional aspects of the June fight, Galt replied, "No comment."

Johansson was subpenaed Thursday night by Lefkowitz and met alone behind closed doors with Galt and other members of the attorney general's staff.

When he emerged from the session, Johansson told reporters he had been asked to tell the story of his fight with Patterson.

"I did, as well as I could remember," he said.

Galt said Johansson was asked a number of questions but he refused to discuss the nature of the queries or of the champion's answer. Galt said he had no idea whether Johansson would be recalled for further questioning.

Billy Casper Has Record 64 In Louisiana

Leads In Lafayette Open With Card 133

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — National Open Champion Billy Casper humiliated par with a record-breaking 64 Friday and lumbered into the lead at the halfway mark of the $15,000 Lafayette Open Golf Tournament.

The 28-year-old putting stylist from Apple Valley, Calif., showed a 36-hole total of 133 and led runnerup Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., by three strokes.

Casper's round was the lowest competitive mark ever posted over the 6,700-yard Oakburne Country Club course. He needed only 27 putts in carding six birdies. He didn't go over par on any hole.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., and Bob Watson of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., who were tied for the first-round lead with 66s, skidded well down the ladder Friday as both shot 75s.

Trailing the top pair at 137 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., George Bayer of Gleneagles, Ill., and Bob Goalsby of Crystal River, Fla.

North Hagerstown Edges Cadets, 7-6

Bob Caesar's point-after-touchdown in the first period was the margin of victory as North Hagerstown defeated Frederick High School in a C.V.A. League game last night at Frederick by the score of 7-6.

Tom Hawkins recovered a Frederick fumble and ran 45 yards for the North High touchdown in the first period.

An 18-yard run by Ken Wilbourne produced the Frederick td in the second period. The kick for the extra point was wide.

North High wound up its CVAL season with a 3-3 record while Frederick won one, lost four and played one tie game.

Eagles Cop Match, 2-1

The Cumberland Eagles won two out of three games from Peck's Cafe last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Jake Steinla paced the Eagles with 25 points while Gus Peretti and Bob Goldsworthy of Peck's tied at 18 points each.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

The city of New York, which kicked up a huge baseball fuss with a push for the new Continental League, is causing a similar stir on a world-wide basis in professional soccer.

As part of an over-all plan to bring more sports into the big town, Mayor Wagner has endorsed a new pro soccer league with a New York entry and 10 top-flight foreign teams to compete in a round-robin league, all games to be played in New York starting next spring. . The league already has bagged Sweden's red hot Norrkopping Football Club, eight time Swedish champs, in a soccer coup equivalent to persuading the New York Yankees to jump from the American League to the Continental.

Blind Wants Gate

Eddie Blind, official starter at the Laurel Race Track, wants to use an American starting gate for next year's $100,000 Laurel International. . . For the convenience of foreign horses in the race, walk-up starts were used prior to this year and in last Wednesday's running an elastic barrier was employed. . . But in both systems, Blind had a slight linguistic problem relaying instructions through interpreters to foreign jocks.

"I can train any horse to come out of an American gate in just five days," says Blind. . . He hopes to sell Laurel President John Shapiro on the idea of switching to a gate in 1960.

Oklahoma football scouts keepling tabs on Army against Villanova at West Point last week may have learned the secret of how to stop Army's lonely end, Bill Carpenter. . . Villanova didn't do it but came so close on two near-miss pass interceptions—with an open road to the goal line if the interception had been made—it may give the Sooners a big defensive idea for their Army showdown Saturday.

KENWOOD HIGH School of Baltimore County now has the largest enrollment of any Class A school in Maryland, according to figures received by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Enrollment figures are based on the number attending the three top grades in the high schools.

Kenwood's enrollment is 1,322, Bladensburg is second with 1,249 and Catonsville third with 1,116.

And do you know that Fort Hill and Allegany, which once upon a time were among the top ten, are now 23rd and 25th respectively with 450 and 441!

Class A schools are those with an enrollment of 250 or more. Class B covers 100 to 249 and Class C comprises schools with less than 100 enrollment.

There are 37 Class A schools, 51 Class B and 42 Class C in Maryland.

Valley High is 13th among the Class B schools with 165, Bruce is 18th with 151 and Mt. Savage 21st with 135. Northern of Garrett County is 11th with 177. Aberdeen and Franklin head that classification with 242 each.

Brunswick of Frederick County heads Class C with 98. Oldtown is 18th with 60 and Flintstone 22nd with 50.

Here's the order in which Class A schools are ranked:

1. Kenwood 1322. 2. Bladensburg 1249. 3. Catonsville 1116. 4. Montgomery Blair 1106. 5. Glen Burnie 1043. 6. Dundalk 1038. 7. Suitland 1018. 8. Parkville 994. 9. Bethesda-Chevy Chase 986. 10. Northeastern 963. 11. Towson 872. 12. Walter Johnson 830. 13. Wheaton 823. 14. Northwood 780. 15. High Point 723. 16. Milford Mill 715. 17. Frederick 679. 18. North Hagerstown 541. 19. Arundel 11. 31. Westminster 328. 32. Sparrows Point 307. 33. BEALL, FROSTBURG 279. 34. Gaithersburg 261. 35. SOUTHERN, OAKLAND 260. 36. Sherwood 257.

LARRY BURNS, who once was noted as a strikeout king in the Cumberland Hot Stove League, is now quite a "pitcher" with the unbeaten Charles Town High School Panthers football team.

He received a plaque the other day from the Jefferson County Jaycees for being one of the "most valuable players" in the Charles Town-Harpers Ferry game which the Panthers won by the score of 49-12.

Burns threw three touchdown passes against the Ferrians and sprinted 57 yards with a punt return for another score.

ONE of the keenest races in American sports car history is expected tomorrow at Daytona Beach's International Speedway in Florida.

Walter Hansgen, of Westfield, N.J., winner of four Cumberland sports car feature races (1953, 1956, 1958 and 1959) and George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., come to Daytona tied for top honors in the Class C modified division—the section of racing that long has been recognized as producing the American sports car driver of the year.

Hansgen, 1958 national champion, will bid for his second straight in one of Briggs Cunningham's Lister Jaguars. This is Hansgen's first trip to the Daytona track, America's fastest automobile racing course.

The championship race in the C modified division will cover 40 laps of the course, just a bit over 150 miles. Eddie Crawford, Northfield, Ill., will be Hansgen's Lister Jaguar teammate.

Sport car racers, as a rule, compete on flat or slightly banked twisting courses. Daytona's speedway for sports car racing purposes combines a 1.31 mile flat and curving course with 2.5 miles of high speed 31-degree banked asphalt. In a 500 mile stock car race held there the average speed of the winner was better than 135 miles an hour.

ELK GARDEN and Berkeley Springs will be among the nearby West Virginia high schools competing in the second annual cross country meet today sponsored by West Virginia University at the Morgantown Country Club.

Coach Paul Kalbaugh and his squad of 12 harriers will leave this morning for the scene of the hill and dale activity. Seven of the 12 will compete for team honors. Last year in their initial test Elk Garden had runners finish in 16th and 17th places.

Coach Paul Hodges and Allen Goldstrom left yesterday with seven Berkeley Springs boys who will represent the Morgan county school.

One hundred and fifty participants from schools in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania are expected to be on hand for the meet.

Pittsburgh Central Catholic is the defending champion.

Charleston's Roger Meador will defend his individual title and meet record of 10:22.

LATEST NEWS from Gotham is that Coach Sal Somma's New Dorp (Staten Island) High School football team is among the four survivors that will battle it out for the championship of Greater New York City. Twenty schools fielded grid teams there.

New Dorp, only undefeated and untied team among the 20, posted its 5th straight win at the expense of Thomas Jefferson High, 28-22.

The Staten Islanders play James Monroe in one semi-final. Flushing opposes Tilden in the other contest.

Ned Twyman Is Dropped By Duquesne

Wolfe Also Given Release By Coach

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Junior backcourt man Ned Twyman, brother of Cincinnati Royals' ace Jack Twyman, was one of two players dropped from the Duquesne University varsity basketball squad Friday.

Out along with Twyman was senior reserve guard Mike Wolff of Brooklyn, N.Y.

"They did not fit into our plans this year and the door is not open for their return," was head coach Red Manning's only comment.

Twyman, a native Pittsburgher, was a regular for the Dukes last season after transferring from Notre Dame. Wolff also a backcourt man, appeared in eight games for Duquesne last season but never was a starter.

Top Ranked Colleges Favored To Extend Perfect Records

Texas Rules Choice Over TCU Gridders

Colgate Underdog Against Syracuse; Trojans Given Edge

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

College football's top teams will try to extend perfect records, bolster conference and bowl hopes or rebound from bitter defeats during Saturday's action.

Top-ranked Syracuse, a target for bowl committees, is a heavy, 36-point favorite to boost its record to 8-0 at the expense of Colgate. Second-ranked Texas, aiming at the Southwest Conference's Cotton Bowl berth, is a six-point choice to make its record 9-0 by downing Texas Christian in a league game.

Southern California, ranked third, is a 14-point pick to make its record 8-0 by defeating Baylor in an intersectional contest. North Texas State, the other major undefeated-untied team, is favored to boost its record to 9-0 by defeating Tulsa in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

Louisiana State, Northwestern and Penn State — losers in three of last week's top games — will try to get back on the victory road.

L.S.U. Favored

Louisiana State, which lost a 19-game victory streak and the no. 1 national ranking when it bowed to Tennessee by one point, is a 22-point choice to rebound by whipping Mississippi State in a night game. Northwestern, which slipped from second to sixth in the UPI ratings after bowing to Wisconsin, is favored over Michigan State by six points in their Big Ten clash.

Penn State, knocked out of the perfect-record ranks when it lost to Syracuse by two points, is an 18-point favorite to down Holy Cross.

L.S.U. still is battling for a Sugar Bowl berth. Northwestern hopes to win the Big Ten crown and a Rose Bowl berth while Penn State figures to land in the Liberty or Gator Bowl.

Wisconsin tied Northwestern for the Big Ten lead last week and is a 10-point choice to keep rolling against Illinois.

With Southern California ineligible for the West Coast's Rose Bowl berth, Washington and Oregon are battling for that position. Washington is favored over California by six points but Oregon's meeting with Washington State is rated a tossup.

Colorado has the inside track for the big eight's Orange Bowl berth but is a three-point underdog for its road game with Nebraska. Nebraska lost to Texas, Kansas, Indiana, Missouri and Iowa State but whipped Minnesota and Oklahoma.

Georgia Is Underdog

Clemson, on top in the Atlantic Coast Conference and aiming for a bowl bid, is a 14-point favorite over Maryland. Georgia, first in the Southeastern Conference, is a three-point underdog for its game with second-place Auburn.

In two of the day's intersectional features, Oklahoma is a seven-point choice over the visiting Army team while Notre Dame is a three-point choice to beat its host, Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania, the Ivy League leader, is favored over Columbia by 16 points and second-place Dartmouth is favored over Cornell by eight.

Delaware, Middle Atlantic Conference champion, visits Bowling Green (Ohio), the mid-American conference leader, in one of the season's top small college games. Each has a 7-0 record. Delaware is ranked first and Bowling Green third behind Mississippi Southern in the UPI small college ratings.

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (UPI) — Today may be Friday, the 13th, but after a pair of longshots won the first two races at Narragansett Park the holders of $2 daily double tickets collected $2,671.00 for each.

Dick McLaughlin of Haverhill, Mass., then rode Castolon to victory in the second for a $81.40, $21.00, $12.00 payoff. It was the gelding's third win in 20 races this year.

The biggest double in Narragansett history was paid off on Oct. 18, 1938 when Squabble and Raceway returned $3,591.60.

The biggest double this year was recorded at Rillito Park on Feb. 15 when Uriah and Pan Five paid $5,302.20.

Clemson Needs Win Over Terps To Stay On Top

Tigers Seek Sixth ACC Victory In Row

By The Associated Press

Clemson, needing a victory to clinch at least a tie for its second Atlantic Coast Conference football championship in a row and third in four years, are at home to Maryland Saturday in the headliner of a three-game ACC schedule.

Runnerup Wake Forest plays at Duke and Virginia is at North Carolina.

South Carolina played at Miami and North Carolina State at UCLA Friday night.

Clemson has rolled up five conference victories without a setback in compiling an overall 6-1 record and gaining the 11th spot in this week's Associated Press poll.

Wake Forest, with a 3-1 league record, retains an outside chance of dethroning Clemson, whom it plays next week. But a Clemson victory over Maryland and a Wake Forest loss to Duke Saturday would clinch the title for Clemson.

Maryland, after winning its opener, has dropped five out of six. But the Terps have been traditionally tough on Clemson, beating the Tigers four times and gaining a tie in seven earlier meetings.

Clemson has a string of four successive shutouts and has been scored on only twice in seven games. Frank Howard's team has yielded only 178 yards a game, top defensive effort in the ACC.

Testing this defense will be two of the top ground gainers in the conference. Rookie quarterback Dick Novak has piled up 621 yards, mostly in the role of ace passer. Fullback Jim Joyce has rolled up 353 as the No. 1 ball carrier.

Fritz Maisel Signs As Orioles' Scout

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Frederick (Fritz) Maisel, who claims "A man's gotta prove himself from year to year" in baseball, Friday signed his 51st consecutive one-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles.

Lee MacPhail, the club's general manager, said Maisel had been signed this time as "a Maryland and eastern scout."

Maisel, 69, has held six different jobs with the Orioles, played the outfield for the New York Yankees and once was the American League's stolen base champion.

Beats Miss Thing By Neck; Grant Scores Triple

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13 (AP) — Solidifying her position as the leading Maryland-bred juvenile of the season, Paul A. Cresci's Creswood Dottie won easily in the $7,500-added Pimlico Breeders's Stakes, on today's opening program of the Maryland Jockey Club's 28-day meeting.

Creswood Dottie got through along the rail to win by four and a half lengths from Harford Stable's Miss Thing, which races for Larry MacPhail and placed just a neck to the fore of John A. Hoy's Adapt.

Howard Grant, who made a runaway of the saddle contest at the Laurel meeting, which ended yesterday, promises to do the same thing here at Pimlico. Creswood Dottie was the third winner of the salutory program for the 20-year-old Cincinnati reinsman.

The running of the mile-and-a-sixteenth Breeders Stakes was marred by a spill when Raymond E. Vogelman Jr.'s Bad Man went down under Jockey Frankie Lovato in midstretch when bumped by Singapore Sling. Both rider and mount jumped to their feet apparently uninjured.

Creswood Dottie, a daughter of The Pincher or Call Over and from Virginia Beach, has completed her juvenile campaign, according to Trainer J. Bowes Bond, who said he plans to ship to winter quarters for an extended rest before pointing for a big 1960 campaign.

Allegany High School's Campers play at home for the fourth straight week when they meet Romney High School's Pioneers tonight at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

It will be the ninth game of the season for Coach Ed Schwarz's eleven and the last before the important city championship engagement with Fort Hill High School's defending champions on Thanksgiving Day.

Allegany's only meeting with Romney in football was in 1937 when the Campers ran roughshod over the Hampshire Countians, 60 to 6.

Playing their second season under Coach Schwarz, the Campers have won six out of eight games. Their overall record last year was 7-3.

Edward Hartman is at the Romney helm for the second season. Going into the final contest tonight the Hampshire Countians own a 3-5-1 record. Last season the Pioneers won four, lost five and played one tie.

Officials for tonight's game at the Greenway Avenue bowl are John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, William Orndorff, John Shelton and Hubert Feeney.

Coach George Hott's Moorefield High School Yellowjackets windup their season today by playing host to the Beall High School Mountaineers in a Potomac Valley Conference game at 1:45 p.m., at Moorefield.

The Hardy Countians, playing their second season under Hott, have won eight games and lost one. The Jackets' best previous mark was 8-1-1 in 1946 when they lost to West Fairmont and played a scoreless tie with LaSalle. Moorefield won 5 and lost 3 in Hott's first year as head mentor.

Beall, which closes its season with LaSalle Thanksgiving Day, has a 3-4-1 overall record and can move into the .500 class with a victory today.

Moorefield is 6-1 and Beall is 1-1-1 in the P.V.C. The Frostburg school is completing its first grid season in the conference. Jim Gaffney, William Orndorff and George Lovenstein will officiate in today's game.

Potomac At Baltimore

Potomac State College will be striving for a perfect season in the Tri-State Junior College Conference when it winds up its 1959 schedule with Baltimore Junior College today in Baltimore.

The Catamounts now are 6-2 overall, including a forfeit win over Salem College. They've concluded their WVIC campaign with a 4-2 record and gave beaten Montgomery Junior College, of Takoma Park, Md., 26-7, and Wesley College, Dover, Del., 26-0, in the Tri-State loop.

Claysburg Hosts Bisons

Bedford High School's Bisons lower the curtain on their season today by playing Claysburg High at the latter place. Coach Harold Wilkinson's Bisons go into the final game with a 6-2 record.

Two Dollar Mutuel Ticket To Stay At Hollywood Park

LeRoy Declares $2 Bettor Made Track Most Popular In U.S.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — President Mervyn LeRoy of the Hollywood Turf Club Friday emphatically declared:

"As far as the $2 mutuel ticket is concerned, at Hollywood Park it is here to stay."

LeRoy referred to agitation around the country that the minimum $2 bet on a horse at a race track may be boosted to $5.

Speculation followed when Spencer Drayton, head of the Thoroughbred Racing Assn., revealed such an item was on the agenda of the annual meeting set for New Orleans Dec. 7-10.

"At Hollywood Park we are proud of the fact that the so-called $2 bettor has made our track the most popular in America," LeRoy said.

"As far as we are concerned, he is the No. 1 racing fan and deserves the utmost in consideration. Not until he shows us that he doesn't want the $2 window will we ever give it up, and I doubt if this ever happens."

Gwynn Wilson, executive vice president of Santa Anita Park, said in a statement:

"The Los Angeles Turf Club has no plans at this time for a change in the pari-mutuel structure at Santa Anita Park, and the basic $2 wager will definitely be available during the coming winter meeting."

Top Ranked Colleges Favored To Extend Perfect Records

Texas Rules Choice Over TCU Gridders

Colgate Underdog Against Syracuse; Trojans Given Edge

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

College football's top teams will try to extend perfect records, bolster conference and bowl hopes or rebound from bitter defeats during Saturday's action.

Top-ranked Syracuse, a target for bowl committees, is a heavy, 36-point favorite to boost its record to 8-0 at the expense of Colgate. Second-ranked Texas, aiming at the Southwest Conference's Cotton Bowl berth, is a six-point choice to make its record 9-0 by downing Texas Christian in a league game.

Southern California, ranked third, is a 14-point pick to make its record 8-0 by defeating Baylor in an intersectional contest. North Texas State, the other major undefeated-untied team, is favored to boost its record to 9-0 by defeating Tulsa in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

Louisiana State, Northwestern and Penn State — losers in three of last week's top games — will try to get back on the victory road.

L.S.U. Favored

Louisiana State, which lost a 19-game victory streak and the no. 1 national ranking when it bowed to Tennessee by one point, is a 22-point choice to rebound by whipping Mississippi State in a night game. Northwestern, which slipped from second to sixth in the UPI ratings after bowing to Wisconsin, is favored over Michigan State by six points in their Big Ten clash.

Penn State, knocked out of the perfect-record ranks when it lost to Syracuse by two points, is an 18-point favorite to down Holy Cross.

L.S.U. still is battling for a Sugar Bowl berth. Northwestern hopes to win the Big Ten crown and a Rose Bowl berth while Penn State figures to land in the Liberty or Gator Bowl.

Wisconsin tied Northwestern for the Big Ten lead last week and is a 10-point choice to keep rolling against Illinois.

With Southern California ineligible for the West Coast's Rose Bowl berth, Washington and Oregon are battling for that position. Washington is favored over California by six points but Oregon's meeting with Washington State is rated a tossup.

Colorado has the inside track for the big eight's Orange Bowl berth but is a three-point underdog for its road game with Nebraska. Nebraska lost to Texas, Kansas, Indiana, Missouri and Iowa State but whipped Minnesota and Oklahoma.

Georgia Is Underdog

Clemson, on top in the Atlantic Coast Conference and aiming for a bowl bid, is a 14-point favorite over Maryland. Georgia, first in the Southeastern Conference, is a three-point underdog for its game with second-place Auburn.

In two of the day's intersectional features, Oklahoma is a seven-point choice over the visiting Army team while Notre Dame is a three-point choice to beat its host, Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania, the Ivy League leader, is favored over Columbia by 16 points and second-place Dartmouth is favored over Cornell by eight.

Delaware, Middle Atlantic Conference champion, visits Bowling Green (Ohio), the mid-American conference leader, in one of the season's top small college games. Each has a 7-0 record. Delaware is ranked first and Bowling Green third behind Mississippi Southern in the UPI small college ratings.

Rhode Island Daily Double Pays $2,671

Air Waves, Castolon Figure In Payoff

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (UPI) — Today may be Friday, the 13th, but after a pair of longshots won the first two races at Narragansett Park the holders of $2 daily double tickets collected $2,671.00 for each.

Air Waves, a brown filly which failed to win in 21 previous starts this year, scored in the first race to pay $47.60, $18.60 and $11.00 across the board. She was ridden by William Skuse, a jockey from Vancouver, B.C.

Dick McLaughlin of Haverhill, Mass., then rode Castolon to victory in the second for a $81.40, $21.00, $12.00 payoff. It was the gelding's third win in 20 races this year.

The biggest double in Narragansett history was paid off on Oct. 18, 1938 when Squabble and Raceway returned $3,591.60.

The biggest double this year was recorded at Rillito Park on Feb. 15 when Uriah and Pan Five paid $5,302.20.

Clemson Needs Win Over Terps To Stay On Top

Tigers Seek Sixth ACC Victory In Row

By The Associated Press

Clemson, needing a victory to clinch at least a tie for its second Atlantic Coast Conference football championship in a row and third in four years, are at home to Maryland Saturday in the headliner of a three-game ACC schedule.

Runnerup Wake Forest plays at Duke and Virginia is at North Carolina.

South Carolina played at Miami and North Carolina State at UCLA Friday night.

Clemson has rolled up five conference victories without a setback in compiling an overall 6-1 record and gaining the 11th spot in this week's Associated Press poll.

Wake Forest, with a 3-1 league record, retains an outside chance of dethroning Clemson, whom it plays next week. But a Clemson victory over Maryland and a Wake Forest loss to Duke Saturday would clinch the title for Clemson.

Maryland, after winning its opener, has dropped five out of six. But the Terps have been traditionally tough on Clemson, beating the Tigers four times and gaining a tie in seven earlier meetings.

Clemson has a string of four successive shutouts and has been scored on only twice in seven games. Frank Howard's team has yielded only 178 yards a game, top defensive effort in the ACC.

Testing this defense will be two of the top ground gainers in the conference. Rookie quarterback Dick Novak has piled up 621 yards, mostly in the role of ace passer. Fullback Jim Joyce has rolled up 353 as the No. 1 ball carrier.

Fritz Maisel Signs As Orioles' Scout

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Frederick (Fritz) Maisel, who claims "A man's gotta prove himself from year to year" in baseball, Friday signed his 51st consecutive one-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles.

Lee MacPhail, the club's general manager, said Maisel had been signed this time as "a Maryland and eastern scout."

Maisel, 69, has held six different jobs with the Orioles, played the outfield for the New York Yankees and once was the American League's stolen base champion.

Creswood Dottie Is Winner Of Pimlico Breeders Stakes

Beats Miss Thing By Neck; Grant Scores Triple

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13 (AP) — Solidifying her position as the leading Maryland-bred juvenile of the season, Paul A. Cresci's Creswood Dottie won easily in the $7,500-added Pimlico Breeders's Stakes, on today's opening program of the Maryland Jockey Club's 28-day meeting.

Creswood Dottie got through along the rail to win by four and a half lengths from Harford Stable's Miss Thing, which races for Larry MacPhail and placed just a neck to the fore of John A. Hoy's Adapt.

Howard Grant, who made a runaway of the saddle contest at the Laurel meeting, which ended yesterday, promises to do the same thing here at Pimlico. Creswood Dottie was the third winner of the salutory program for the 20-year-old Cincinnati reinsman.

The running of the mile-and-a-sixteenth Breeders Stakes was marred by a spill when Raymond E. Vogelman Jr.'s Bad Man went down under Jockey Frankie Lovato in midstretch when bumped by Singapore Sling. Both rider and mount jumped to their feet apparently uninjured.

Creswood Dottie, a daughter of The Pincher or Call Over and from Virginia Beach, has completed her juvenile campaign, according to Trainer J. Bowes Bond, who said he plans to ship to winter quarters for an extended rest before pointing for a big 1960 campaign.

Allegany High School's Campers play at home for the fourth straight week when they meet Romney High School's Pioneers tonight at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

It will be the ninth game of the season for Coach Ed Schwarz's eleven and the last before the important city championship engagement with Fort Hill High School's defending champions on Thanksgiving Day.

Allegany's only meeting with Romney in football was in 1937 when the Campers ran roughshod over the Hampshire Countians, 60 to 6.

Playing their second season under Coach Schwarz, the Campers have won six out of eight games. Their overall record last year was 7-3.

Edward Hartman is at the Romney helm for the second season. Going into the final contest tonight the Hampshire Countians own a 3-5-1 record. Last season the Pioneers won four, lost five and played one tie.

Officials for tonight's game at the Greenway Avenue bowl are John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, William Orndorff, John Shelton and Hubert Feeney.

Two Dollar Mutuel Ticket To Stay At Hollywood Park

LeRoy Declares $2 Bettor Made Track Most Popular In U.S.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — President Mervyn LeRoy of the Hollywood Turf Club Friday emphatically declared:

"As far as the $2 mutuel ticket is concerned, at Hollywood Park it is here to stay."

LeRoy referred to agitation around the country that the minimum $2 bet on a horse at a race track may be boosted to $5.

Speculation followed when Spencer Drayton, head of the Thoroughbred Racing Assn., revealed such an item was on the agenda of the annual meeting set for New Orleans Dec. 7-10.

"At Hollywood Park we are proud of the fact that the so-called $2 bettor has made our track the most popular in America," LeRoy said.

"As far as we are concerned, he is the No. 1 racing fan and deserves the utmost in consideration. Not until he shows us that he doesn't want the $2 window will we ever give it up, and I doubt if this ever happens."

Gwynn Wilson, executive vice president of Santa Anita Park, said in a statement:

"The Los Angeles Turf Club has no plans at this time for a change in the pari-mutuel structure at Santa Anita Park, and the basic $2 wager will definitely be available during the coming winter meeting."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—It's definite. Eddie Fisher WILL be in Elizabeth Taylor's movie "Buttefield 8" and Eddie's role is that of a piano player named Eddie! Several weeks ago when I asked Sol Siegel, MGM production head, if Eddie would appear in Liz's picture, he said "No." His answer was correct at the time. But there's been some fast juggling of Eddie's nightclub dates permitting him to make the movie — plus I'm sure Liz wanted him. What Liz wants—Liz gets—with apologies to Lola.

Eddie's schedule certainly will keep him hopping. He opens at the Waldorf-Astoria next week, then on to Miami Beach for a stand at the Fountainebleau. He also has a date to fulfill at the Palladium in London in the spring.

The very first of his race to become a director in the motion picture business is Lloyd Richards, the brilliant Negro who directed "Raisin in the Sun", one of Broadway's smash hits of last season.

Richards has been engaged by George Glass and Walter Seltzer, of the Marlon Brando company, to direct "Daffy", their first for Universal - International. There is no racial element in the story of "Daffy". It's a love story of two runaway kids who meet in a boxcar. George and Walter would like to borrow James Darren from Columbia, but right now I would say that would take quite a lot of doing, since Sam Briskin has big plans for him.

Next August, Bob Wagner's long contract with 20th Century-Fox will be ended. But a new deal is being negotiated whereby Bob is expected to re-sign on a non-exclusive pact—for 20th wants to keep a string on this able young actor they've raised from a pup.

Before any new arrangements take effect—in fact, immediately after Bob completes "All the Fine Young Cannibals" with Natalie Wood—he'll star in "Live Wire" for the home team. Producer David Weisbart tells me "Live Wire" is the same Garson Kanin play that Mike Todd produced on Broadway about 10 years ago. It's about a group of ex-GI's who take up residence in a quonset hut in the middle of New York until they get a break in show business. Fay and Michael Kanin have written the script.

Washington better take heed with Otto Preminger bringing "Advise and Consent" to the screen. Preminger is noted for his direction wiht a hammer, and some of the characters in the book may come out a little shattered. It doesn't take a Solomon to discern which fictional senators in Allen Drury's book the author had in mind, and that goes for the President and vice president.

"Advise and Consent" is fascinating reading, but it should make for some official squirming, especially in the hands of Preminger. His "Anatomy of a Murder" features the most clinical language ever heard on the screen. Hiss "The Moon is Blue" was banned and released without a seal of approval. Preminger has the reputation of being a rough boy at the controls.

There's more than just a theatre two-some behind Arthur O'Connell's date with Rebecca Welles at the Huntington Hartford. It marked Rebecca's official break with director Don Weiss with whom she has had a serious romance for over a year.

The moral to her break is — never work with the man you love. Don put Rebecca in a "Trouble - Shooting" TV show he was directing and when they worked together, that did it! Arthur apparently has stopped carrying the torch for June Leff.

Explosive Report

The most horrifying specters that faced mankind for the first million years of his occupancy of this planet were famine, pestilence, and war, and by curbing them, we now face a fourth—population—which could be worse than the first three put together.

In tackling the subject in its documentary "The Population Explosion," CBS Reports is courageously and sensibly attempting to put the most important issues of our time in prime evening time and with—many wonders never cease—a sponsor. (B. F. Goodrich and Bell and Howell). I am vastly encouraged that the subject of population is being brought out into the open at all.

Av Westin, who directed and produced "Population Explosion," has laid most of it in what he calls the "world's hugest democracy," India. There we are confronted with whole families sleeping in the streets because housing cannot be built fast enough to keep up with the birth rate. "Do you know what it means to have a child hungry and not be able to feed it?" cries a woman despairingly. In many parts of India children now eat only four times a week and there were some pictures of these spindle-shanked children. Efforts to teach family planning run headlong into the fatal: "It's all in the hands of God."

"If India has trouble feeding 400,000,000 people, how can it feed twice that number?" asks Howard K. Smith. And twice that number is what it's going to have to feed within thirty years unless something is done. Perhaps the most pertinent and horrifying statistic advanced by Mr. Smith was his concluding one: "In a few centuries, if nothing happens to stop population trends, there will be one square foot of living space on earth for every person alive."

The point of view of this program is that not alking about this problem because it is controversial or uncomfortable is a luxury which we as leaders of the free world cannot afford. This is a very sound point and I'm happy that it is so stated.

Taking the Catholic position on this documentary are the Archbishop of Delhi and Monsignor Irving De Blanc of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "Only by continence do we Catholics approve of birth control," declares the Archbishop. "Otherwise it becomes a sinful pleasure and can't be approved at all." As for starvation in India, the Archbishop suggested that perhaps if India could do something about its huge monkey population, it could find food for another 12,000,000 people.

The Monsignor declared that the United States was a democracy where free speech was rampant and that anyone was free to state his arguments against Catholic dogma.

There was beautiful camerawork of women in India's overworked fields tending the insufficient grain, oxen being beautifully picturesque if frightfully inefficient at getting water out of the wells, and ravishingly beautiful, half-starved Indian women.

Prime Minister Nehru, India's articulate spokesman, was shown candidly admitting that the government has managed to check India's birth rate hardly at all but stubbornly insisting that a good start has been made simply in getting Indians to think about it at all. I wholeheartedly agree. "Getting the message across depends on literacy," says Mr. Smith at one point. But does it? Getting the message across depends first on the ability to state it—on the freedom to state the arguments for any against birth control.

Speaking for the Protestants—and not doing a very good job of it—was Bishop James A. Pike who pleaded for "freedom to talk and speak, freedom to advance the convictions of the Anglican Church." The fact that this documentary was shown at all indicates a great advance in that direction toward, as Bishop Pike states, a climate of openion where "complaceny is shattered and mankind gives this problem the high priority it deserves."

Walking can do a lot for your eyesight

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Take Walks To Benefit Your Eyes

The daily brisk walk habit does more than trim the figure and brighten points of view. Count walks also as eye treatment, of two kinds. Eyes sparkle with the exhilaration of the outdoor exercise, and they're also helped to see more clearly and untiringly.

Human eyes were intended to look into distances as man lived with nature, not to be short-stopped all day by near walls. This is a fundamental explanation of much eye trouble. Walking brings relief as vision lengthens beyond indoor confines—as eyes look afar, they are refreshed.

Even when transportation is necessary, you can make it a daily practice to focus as deeply as possible into the passing scene out the window. Speed is bound to cancel much of the benefit, however, which isn't true of the slower pace of a walk. Look into the distance during as much of the walk as it's safe to—choose routes which don't demand watching your step constantly. And notice, while you're sighting distances, how naturally you hold your head proudly high.

If your job keeps you in one place most of the day, don't face a wall if you can help it. Your eyes may not be nearly as tired at night if your desk changes to a position where they can see across the room, instead of stop point blank at a wall, when you look up from your work. And remember to look up and as far away as you can at regular intervals. At breaktimes, don't race to the coffee shop always, to trade the office wall for another wall that's just as close. See what you can see out a window sometimes. This change for your eyes and breaths of outdoor air are often more refreshing than the coffee.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: When I was 18, I went steady for one year with a fellow who was considered by everyone "The All-American Boy." He treated me like a princess, was always the perfect gentleman and I found him to be a man of high quality and good character.

I broke up with Greg when I fell for a handsome guy in college. My sizzling romance lasted six months — then I learned my Romeo was stringing two other girls and professing his undying love for all of us. I cried on Greg's shoulder, but we didn't re-establish connections.

Now I'm 23, and after having gone with several fellows I just broke up with Ken who I thought was "the real thing." (He tried to make me over to suit his mother and sister and it didn't work.) For the 10th time I borrowed Greg's shoulder and now I wonder if he isn't the man I love.

He's stood patiently by, always ready to give me moral support when I needed it. Never once did he say "I told you so."

My heart doesn't jump at the sight of him, but I respect and admire Greg tremendously. He gives me strength and confidence. I trust him implicitly and feel that he's the kindest and straightest person I know. Is this love? —BARBARA

DEAR BARBARA: Yes — and it's the best kind, too. Don't let him get away.

DEAR ANN: The letter signed "Loose Ends" by the bored woman gave me a pain I can't locate. Did you notice in the long list of things she did to fight off boredom, that every activity was designed for self-amusement?

I'm no angel, but I learned long ago real pleasure comes from doing something for someone else. Here's a good example:

My neighbor has a large family of boys and one small girl who was somewhat neglected. It touched my heart one day to see her dressing and undressing her doll in its one and only dress. So, I got busy and made her doll a wardrobe.

The child was thrilled and we became good friends. Now we take long walks together and I'm teaching her the names of flowers, plants and trees. She has become acquainted with other little girls in the park and is learning to play nicely with them under my supervision.

Her mother tells me the girl's personality has blossomed since I took an interest in her. She says I have been a Godsend. Please pass this on to others who are bored trying to amuse themselves.—CONTENTED

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My blood pressure is really up there as a result of that letter from "Interested Family." So — they didn't want their socially prominent mother, age 52, to marry a garage mechanic because it might injure her social standing, eh?

Well, I am a widow, 54, who has "social standing", too, whatever that means. I also own a lovely home, a car, and I have the means to travel, entertain and do as I please. My children are through college, married and on their own.

I live alone and it's an empty, unsatisfying life. Please tell "Interested Family" to let Mother do as she wishes. And while you're at it, ask them if that garage mechanic has a friend. I'm an—INTERESTED WIDOW

DEAR INTERESTED WIDOW: You sound like a living doll, and I wish I could pluck a man out of my reading audience, just for you. I'm sure there are many who would qualify. BUT this isn't THAT kind of a column.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—It's definite. Eddie Fisher WILL be in Elizabeth Taylor's movie "Buttefield 8" and Eddie's role is that of a piano player named Eddie! Several weeks ago when I asked Sol Siegel, MGM production head, if Eddie would appear in Liz's picture, he said "No." His answer was correct at the time. But there's been some fast juggling of Eddie's nightclub dates permitting him to make the movie — plus I'm sure Liz wanted him. What Liz wants—Liz gets—with apologies to Lola.

Eddie's schedule certainly will keep him hopping. He opens at the Waldorf-Astoria next week, then on to Miami Beach for a stand at the Fountainebleau. He also has a date to fulfill at the Palladium in London in the spring.

The very first of his race to become a director in the motion picture business is Lloyd Richards, the brilliant Negro who directed "Raisin in the Sun", one of Broadway's smash hits of last season.

Richards has been engaged by George Glass and Walter Seltzer, of the Marlon Brando company, to direct "Daffy", their first for Universal - International. There is no racial element in the story of "Daffy". It's a love story of two runaway kids who meet in a boxcar. George and Walter would like to borrow James Darren from Columbia, but right now I would say that would take quite a lot of doing, since Sam Briskin has big plans for him.

Next August, Bob Wagner's long contract with 20th Century-Fox will be ended. But a new deal is being negotiated whereby Bob is expected to re-sign on a non-exclusive pact—for 20th wants to keep a string on this able young actor they've raised from a pup.

Before any new arrangements take effect—in fact, immediately after Bob completes "All the Fine Young Cannibals" with Natalie Wood—he'll star in "Live Wire" for the home team. Producer David Weisbart tells me "Live Wire" is the same Garson Kanin play that Mike Todd produced on Broadway about 10 years ago. It's about a group of ex-GI's who take up residence in a quonset hut in the middle of New York until they get a break in show business. Fay and Michael Kanin have written the script.

Washington better take heed with Otto Preminger bringing "Advise and Consent" to the screen. Preminger is noted for his direction wiht a hammer, and some of the characters in the book may come out a little shattered. It doesn't take a Solomon to discern which fictional senators in Allen Drury's book the author had in mind, and that goes for the President and vice president.

"Advise and Consent" is fascinating reading, but it should make for some official squirming, especially in the hands of Preminger. His "Anatomy of a Murder" features the most clinical language ever heard on the screen. Hiss "The Moon is Blue" was banned and released without a seal of approval. Preminger has the reputation of being a rough boy at the controls.

There's more than just a theatre two-some behind Arthur O'Connell's date with Rebecca Welles at the Huntington Hartford. It marked Rebecca's official break with director Don Weiss with whom she has had a serious romance for over a year.

The moral to her break is — never work with the man you love. Don put Rebecca in a "Trouble - Shooting" TV show he was directing and when they worked together, that did it! Arthur apparently has stopped carrying the torch for June Leff.

Explosive Report

The most horrifying specters that faced mankind for the first million years of his occupancy of this planet were famine, pestilence, and war, and by curbing them, we now face a fourth—population—which could be worse than the first three put together.

Efforts to teach family planning run headlong into the fatal: "It's all in the hands of God."

"If India has trouble feeding 400,000,000 people, how can it feed twice that number?" asks Howard K. Smith. And twice that number is what it's going to have to feed within thirty years unless something is done. Perhaps the most pertinent and horrifying statistic advanced by Mr. Smith was his concluding one: "In a few centuries, if nothing happens to stop population trends, there will be one square foot of living space on earth for every person alive."

The point of view of this program is that not alking about this problem because it is controversial or uncomfortable is a luxury which we as leaders of the free world cannot afford. This is a very sound point and I'm happy that it is so stated.

Taking the Catholic position on this documentary are the Archbishop of Delhi and Monsignor Irving De Blanc of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "Only by continence do we Catholics approve of birth control," declares the Archbishop. "Otherwise it becomes a sinful pleasure and can't be approved at all." As for starvation in India, the Archbishop suggested that perhaps if India could do something about its huge monkey population, it could find food for another 12,000,000 people.

The Monsignor declared that the United States was a democracy where free speech was rampant and that anyone was free to state his arguments against Catholic dogma.

There was beautiful camerawork of women in India's overworked fields tending the insufficient grain, oxen being beautifully picturesque if frightfully inefficient at getting water out of the wells, and ravishingly beautiful, half-starved Indian women.

Prime Minister Nehru, India's articulate spokesman, was shown candidly admitting that the government has managed to check India's birth rate hardly at all but stubbornly insisting that a good start has been made simply in getting Indians to think about it at all. The fact that this documentary was shown at all indicates a great advance in that direction toward, as Bishop Pike states, a climate of openion where "complaceny is shattered and mankind gives this problem the high priority it deserves."

Take Walks To Benefit Your Eyes

The daily brisk walk habit does more than trim the figure and brighten points of view. Count walks also as eye treatment, of two kinds. Eyes sparkle with the exhilaration of the outdoor exercise, and they're also helped to see more clearly and untiringly.

Human eyes were intended to look into distances as man lived with nature, not to be short-stopped all day by near walls. This is a fundamental explanation of much eye trouble. Walking brings relief as vision lengthens beyond indoor confines—as eyes look afar, they are refreshed.

Even when transportation is necessary, you can make it a daily practice to focus as deeply as possible into the passing scene out the window. Speed is bound to cancel much of the benefit, however, which isn't true of the slower pace of a walk. Look into the distance during as much of the walk as it's safe to—choose routes which don't demand watching your step constantly. And notice, while you're sighting distances, how naturally you hold your head proudly high.

If your job keeps you in one place most of the day, don't face a wall if you can help it. Your eyes may not be nearly as tired at night if your desk changes to a position where they can see across the room, instead of stop point blank at a wall, when you look up from your work. And remember to look up and as far away as you can at regular intervals. At breaktimes, don't race to the coffee shop always, to trade the office wall for another wall that's just as close. See what you can see out a window sometimes. This change for your eyes and breaths of outdoor air are often more refreshing than the coffee.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: When I was 18, I went steady for one year with a fellow who was considered by everyone "The All-American Boy." He treated me like a princess, was always the perfect gentleman and I found him to be a man of high quality and good character.

I broke up with Greg when I fell for a handsome guy in college. My sizzling romance lasted six months — then I learned my Romeo was stringing two other girls and professing his undying love for all of us. I cried on Greg's shoulder, but we didn't re-establish connections.

Now I'm 23, and after having gone with several fellows I just broke up with Ken who I thought was "the real thing." (He tried to make me over to suit his mother and sister and it didn't work.) For the 10th time I borrowed Greg's shoulder and now I wonder if he isn't the man I love.

He's stood patiently by, always ready to give me moral support when I needed it. Never once did he say "I told you so."

My heart doesn't jump at the sight of him, but I respect and admire Greg tremendously. He gives me strength and confidence. I trust him implicitly and feel that he's the kindest and straightest person I know. Is this love? —BARBARA

DEAR BARBARA: Yes — and it's the best kind, too. Don't let him get away.

DEAR ANN: The letter signed "Loose Ends" by the bored woman gave me a pain I can't locate. Did you notice in the long list of things she did to fight off boredom, that every activity was designed for self-amusement?

I'm no angel, but I learned long ago real pleasure comes from doing something for someone else. Here's a good example:

My neighbor has a large family of boys and one small girl who was somewhat neglected. It touched my heart one day to see her dressing and undressing her doll in its one and only dress. So, I got busy and made her doll a wardrobe.

The child was thrilled and we became good friends. Now we take long walks together and I'm teaching her the names of flowers, plants and trees. She has become acquainted with other little girls in the park and is learning to play nicely with them under my supervision.

Her mother tells me the girl's personality has blossomed since I took an interest in her. She says I have been a Godsend. Please pass this on to others who are bored trying to amuse themselves.—CONTENTED

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My blood pressure is really up there as a result of that letter from "Interested Family." So — they didn't want their socially prominent mother, age 52, to marry a garage mechanic because it might injure her social standing, eh?

Well, I am a widow, 54, who has "social standing", too, whatever that means. I also own a lovely home, a car, and I have the means to travel, entertain and do as I please. My children are through college, married and on their own.

I live alone and it's an empty, unsatisfying life. Please tell "Interested Family" to let Mother do as she wishes. And while you're at it, ask them if that garage mechanic has a friend. I'm an—INTERESTED WIDOW

DEAR INTERESTED WIDOW: You sound like a living doll, and I wish I could pluck a man out of my reading audience, just for you. I'm sure there are many who would qualify. BUT this isn't THAT kind of a column.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Romney Council Airs Complaints

ROMNEY — The Mayor and Council met recently to discuss property damage caused from smoke and fumes emanating from the heating plant of the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind.

Hugo Schunhoff, school superintendent, stated that any improvement to the plant would be delayed until the school budget for next year is readied. If approved as an item in the budget, further delay would be necessary during construction or installation he said.

A representative of a Charleston engineering firm has completed a survey of the plant. The town will prepare a written report of his findings, which will then be forwarded to Schunhoff.

The plant has been the source of complaints from property owners since its construction.

Former W.Va. Congressman Dies

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Dr. Will E. Neal, who served two terms in Congress, died Thursday two months after entering a hospital for a heart condition. He was 84.

He was first elected to the House in 1952 at the age of 77, perhaps older than any other first-termer in United States history.

He was defeated in 1954, won election in 1956, then was defeated a second time in 1958.

He leaves a widow and three sons, Dr. W. L. Neal, a physician; Dr. Thomas G. Neal, a dentist, and Joseph G. Neal, an insurance agent, all of Huntington. A fourth son, Bernard Gale, was killed in action in France in World War II.

Romney Council Airs Complaints

ROMNEY — The Mayor and Council met recently to discuss property damage caused from smoke and fumes emanating from the heating plant of the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind.

Hugo Schunhoff, school superintendent, stated that any improvement to the plant would be delayed until the school budget for next year is readied. If approved as an item in the budget, further delay would be necessary during construction or installation be said.

A representative of a Charleston engineering firm has completed a survey of the plant. The town will prepare a written report of his findings, which will then be forwarded to Schunhoff.

The plant has been the source of complaints from property owners since its construction.

Former W.Va. Congressman Dies

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Dr. Will E. Neal, who served two terms in Congress, died Thursday two months after entering a hospital for a heart condition. He was 84.

He was first elected to the House in 1952 at the age of 77, perhaps older than any other first-termer in United States history.

He was defeated in 1954, won election in 1956, then was defeated a second time in 1958.

He leaves a widow and three sons, Dr. W. L. Neal, a physician; Dr. Thomas G. Neal, a dentist, and Joseph G. Neal, an insurance agent, all of Huntington. A fourth son, Bernard Gale, was killed in action in France in World War II.

Weakness Among Steels, Motors Drags Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weakness among the steels, motors and some pivotals dragged the stock market down in routine weekend trading.

Some profit - taking developed in anticipation of the weekend and the selling apparently reflected also the sentiment of traders and investors who are still seeking to assess the continuing uncertainties of the long-term steel situation.

Brokers said hesitancy in the trading community likely will continue until the steel problem has been thoroughly resolved.

Electronics stocks finished at the top of the heap with gains of 5 in General Time, 4½ in Ampex, and 3¼ each in Litton and Motorola. Raytheon, a feature the day before, lost 1⅞. Rumors of a hook up between Raytheon and International Telephone which have been denied by both concerns were cited in some quarters as mainly responsible for the stock's advance on Thursday.

The rails hit a new low for the year in both the Dow-Jones and Standard & Poor's averages. Norfolk & Western lost more than 2, and Kansas City Southern and Great Northern more than a point each.

Trading dropped to 3,050,000 shares from 3,600,000 shares the day before. A total of 1,198 issues crossed the tape, one more than on the preceding day. Of these 623 declined, 368 advanced and 207 held unchanged. New lows outnumbered new highs 52 to 17.

Electrical & Musical Industries again was the most active issue with 106,100 shares.

Du Pont rose ½ to 257½ on the announcement the company would consider a year-end dividend next week. The issue was up more than 2 at its top. Eastman Kodak jumped 1⅜, while Allied and Union Carbide lost 1 or more each.

Carpenter Steel ran up a gain of 1½ in its sections where the general trend was lower. U.S. Steel fell 1¾; Simonds Saw 2⅞ and Bethlehem ⅞.

In the motors, American firmed, Ford was unchanged, and GM and Chrysler eased. Lockheed added 1½ and Republic 2 in the aircrafts.

Stocks climbed irregularly higher in continued active dealings on the American Exchange Friday with electronics and specialities leading the way.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nearby wheat prices pushed to new seasonal highs Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Most other grains were mixed.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅛ to up 1; corn unchanged to up ⅜; oats off ⅛ to up ¼; rye off ⅛ to up ⅞; soybeans off ⅛ to ⅜.

Flour mill buying and short covering in advance of the week end strengthened nearby wheat futures. Deferred contracts were steady. Buying of December came on the earlier dip in prices, with offers mostly from spreaders.

In corn, there was early heavy selling of December at $1.13 which put some pressure on the market. Commission houses bought on resting orders, and local traders also bought. Mills bought December and sold March at 4⅛ cents difference.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,104,000 bushels of corn.

The oats trade was light, and prices were mostly steady. Cash houses bought small amounts of December, and May had a light commission demand.

Rye was mostly firm. The Winnipeg market was strong.

Soybeans opened strong but soon fell to a weak level. A large commission house trade was on both sides of the market. Local traders first bought and then sold out. Reports said the bad weather had halted harvesting in many areas.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Weakness Among Steels, Motors Drags Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weakness among the steels, motors and some pivotals dragged the stock market down in routine weekend trading.

Some profit - taking developed in anticipation of the weekend and the selling apparently reflected also the sentiment of traders and investors who are still seeking to assess the continuing uncertainties of the long-term steel situation.

Brokers said hesitancy in the trading community likely will continue until the steel problem has been thoroughly resolved.

Electronics stocks finished at the top of the heap with gains of 5 in General Time, 4½ in Ampex, and 3¼ each in Litton and Motorola. Raytheon, a feature the day before, lost 1⅞. Rumors of a hook up between Raytheon and International Telephone which have been denied by both concerns were cited in some quarters as mainly responsible for the stock's advance on Thursday.

The rails hit a new low for the year in both the Dow-Jones and Standard & Poor's averages. Norfolk & Western lost more than 2, and Kansas City Southern and Great Northern more than a point each.

Trading dropped to 3,050,000 shares from 3,600,000 shares the day before. A total of 1,198 issues crossed the tape, one more than on the preceding day. Of these 623 declined, 368 advanced and 207 held unchanged. New lows outnumbered new highs 52 to 17.

Electrical & Musical Industries again was the most active issue with 106,100 shares.

Du Pont rose ½ to 257½ on the announcement the company would consider a year-end dividend next week. The issue was up more than 2 at its top. Eastman Kodak jumped 1⅜, while Allied and Union Carbide lost 1 or more each.

Carpenter Steel ran up a gain of 1½ in its sections where the general trend was lower. U.S. Steel fell 1¾; Simonds Saw 2⅞ and Bethlehem ⅞.

In the motors, American firmed, Ford was unchanged, and GM and Chrysler eased. Lockheed added 1½ and Republic 2 in the aircrafts.

Stocks climbed irregularly higher in continued active dealings on the American Exchange Friday with electronics and specialities leading the way.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nearby wheat prices pushed to new seasonal highs Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Most other grains were mixed.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅛ to up 1; corn unchanged to up ⅜; oats off ⅛ to up ¼; rye off ⅛ to up ⅞; soybeans off ⅛ to ⅞.

Flour mill buying and short covering in advance of the week end strengthened nearby wheat futures. Deferred contracts were steady. Buying of December came on the earlier dip in prices, with offers mostly from spreaders.

In corn, there was early heavy selling of December at $1.13 which put some pressure on the market. Commission houses bought on resting orders, and local traders also bought. Mills bought December and sold March at 4⅛ cents difference.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,104,000 bushels of corn.

The oats trade was light, and prices were mostly steady. Cash houses bought small amounts of December, and May had a light commission demand.

Rye was mostly firm. The Winnipeg market was strong.

Soybeans opened strong but soon fell to a weak level. A large commission house trade was on both sides of the market. Local traders first bought and then sold out. Reports said the bad weather had halted harvesting in many areas.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Fike Admits Setting Fire To Elda Inn

Will Be Charged With Arson Today, Authorities Say

Emory T. Fike, 20, of near Keyser, who has admitted starting the fire which destroyed the Elda Inn on Braddock Road early yesterday morning, will be charged with arson today.

Volunteer firemen from five companies responded to fight the blaze which started about 5 a. m. The State Police at LaVale were notified of the fire by a passing motorist.

Several hours later Fike turned himself in at City Police headquarters and admitted he started the blaze which leveled the once popular roadhouse.

Fike was questioned yesterday afternoon by State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, and is being held at LaVale Barracks of the State Police.

The building was owned by Mrs. Daisy Cromwell and her son, Eldred "Al" Cromwell, who said the loss would go into thousands of dollars. The place was covered by insurance, but Mr. Cromwell said the building contained several rooms of furniture which were stored in the basement.

LaVale Fire Company reached the scene first and was hampered by the lack of water. Companies from Corriganville, Bedford Road, Bowling Green and Clarysville also answered the alarm, but were unable to bring the blaze under control.

Fike was questioned yesterday morning by Tfc. Milton Hart and told the state trooper he broke into the building Thursday night, looking for food and money. Fike told Tfc. Hart he slept for a while and then started the fire in two separate parts of the roadhouse. Fike said he had no reason for starting the fire.

Keyser Chief of Police Guy Clem said Fike also is wanted in Keyser for the burglary of a home in that section.

Forester Gives State Report At Oak Wilt Meet

Disease Prevalent In Western Maryland

Facts and figures on oak wilt infected areas in Maryland were reported during the seven-state oak wilt meeting held in the past two days at Bedford, Pa., by Dr. L. O. Weaver, state pathologist, and William H. Johnson, district forester here.

Four aerial flights were made over the entire state this past summer, according to the report, and the infected areas were confined to small plots in eastern Garrett County, all of Allegany County and the western half of Washington County.

In all a total of 49 oak wilt areas were detected and 32 areas were eradicated by a crew of the Department of Forests and Parks which set up control areas around the infected trees.

Seventeen sites in Maryland were selected by the Forest Servic of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for studying the plots, part of a three-year survey in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In order to establish effectiveness in controlling oak wilt Maryland and Pennsylvania are using the isolation strip and all oaks are removed within 50 feet of the affected tree. West Virginia's system is to girdle and kill the infected tree only.

Six study plots were set up last year in Maryland; 48 plots in West Virginia this year and last year for a two-year study, and 34 plots in Pennsylvania during the same period for a two-year study.

The report showed that the 49 new infected areas found in Maryland this year was an increase of seven over those found last year. Oak wilt was found over most of West Virginia and was largely confined to five counties in Pennsylvania, with the greatest concentration north of the infected areas in Maryland.

Kentucky reported a scattering of oak wilt, Virginia reported two infected areas and North Carolina found several counties with a small number of infections.

Mr. Johnson said the general consensus at the meeting was that there must be additional study and research done to eliminate the disease.

It is felt that the control measures taken have held in check the spread of oak wilt, he said.

Mr. Johnson said good quality oak is in high demand especially for flooring and structural timbers. There is also a demand for oak for use in furniture and barrel staves.

Other Marylanders attending the meeting at the Penn-Bedford Hotel were Thomas Dixon, forest guard of Allegany County, and H. C. Buckingham, state forester.

Postmasters Discuss Yule Rush

35 Area Men Share Opinions

The handling of mail during the fast-approaching pre-Christmas rush period was discussed on Thursday at the Cumberland Post Office when 35 area postmasters met to air problems they will face during the month of December.

The meeting was in charge of William H. Geddes, of Washington, D.C., field services officer. Also present were R. M. Johnson, postal inspector here, and Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

The postal officials discussed the problems of added mail during the holiday season. Again this year Cumberland was designated as the mail expediting center and the flow of mail from feeder offices was discussed.

The postmasters were informed as to the makeup of mail for handling through the local post office.

Among those attending were postmasters from Kingwood, W. Va., Oakland, Meyersdale, Pa., Keyser and other points in the area.

Last December's mountain of mail which was mailed at the Cumberland Post Office included 2,501,569 pieces of mail other than parcel post and 85,303 pieces of parcel post.

Residents are cooperating more each year and are eliminating long lines at the Post Office since they do their mailing early.

In this manner they take the last-minute load off the regular employes and parttime workers.

Preston County Couple Gets $21,000 In Court

Separate Cases Are Concluded

A Preston County, W. Va. couple was awarded $21,000 this week by petit juries which heard two separate civil suits stemming from an auto accident May 3, 1958, in which the man's wife sustained the loss of a leg.

The damage suits were filed by Mrs. Frances Myers, of near Kingwood, for personal injuries and by her husband, Harlan Myers, for hospital and medical expenses, against Roy Adams Gower, of Kingwood, driver of the car which ran into Mrs. Myers.

Thursday the Preston County jury awarded $6,000 to the husband and on Tuesday gave $15,000 to the wife. Milford Gibson of Elkins and Neil Reed of Kingwood represented the plaintiffs and Edward Runner of Kingwood was counsel for the defendant.

Mrs. Myers was standing near the back wheel of her husband's car which was parked off the highway, according to testimony which revealed that Gower was driving at an apparent high rate of speed, and lost control of the car which slid about 300 feet before striking the woman, causing her leg to be severed.

During the June term of court last year Gower was indicted for assault with an automobile and because of criminal negligence was sentenced to a year in the Preston County jail, James T. Dailey, Jr., prosecuting attorney, said last night.

In other court action Thursday, an indictment of manslaughter against Charles E. Davis of Arthurdale was dismissed.

Police said Davis was driving an auto which hit Melvin Blosser, a seven-year-old boy, about 8 a. m. October 16 at Cascade. The boy died in a Morgantown hospital that night.

Trooper J. E. Coleman, who investigated the accident, testified yesterday that he had made a house-to-house canvass in the area of the crash and found no one who could testify that the driver was speeding greater than the limit.

The court also held that skid marks were not evidence in the case and the charge against Mr. Davis was dropped.

Local Group Is Planning To Attend Passion Play

Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, will be the leader of a special group of local residents who plan to witness the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany, and visit cities in France and Italy next year.

The trip is being arranged through the Conlon Travel Agency here. A meeting of interested people will be held at 9 p. m. November 27 at the coffee shop in the Algonquin Hotel at which time full details will be available and questions answered by the agency.

The Passion Play is an event of such religious significance that it has captured the interest of persons of many faiths when produced each decade.

Teamsters Make Good Use Of Welfare Fund

Five Members Are Receiving Pensions

Benefits totaling $205,743 were provided last year for members of Local 453, Teamsters Union, to help meet the financial burden which normally results from death, sickness, accidents and medical care.

The health and welfare payments were made through the Cumberland, Maryland Area Teamsters Welfare Insurance Fund during the fiscal year which ended May 31, according to a trustees' report presented to members.

Teamsters and their families have been making good use of the protection, the report shows, citing that $1.05 in benefits were paid out during the year for each $1 of premium paid to the insurance company.

Rate Adjusted

Due to the high loss ratio, the fund granted the insurance firm a slight rate adjustment.

Payments were high last year too, amounting to 99 cents out of each premium dollar.

The report showed that 85 cents of each premium dollar provided by employers was paid to the insurance company for benefits.

It cost $8,337.91, or 3.63 per cent of all employer contributions, to administer the fund, and trustees pointed out that servicing costs were much lower than for other funds of its size and character.

The cost of the protection is currently $14 a month, paid entirely by employers.

Five Are Pensioned

Trustees are C. E. Bramble, president, and C. E. Stutzman, business agent, for the union, and L. S. Shore, of Wilson Freight Forwarding, Cincinnati, and W. J. Lemon, of Spector-Mid-States, Chicago.

A similar report was represented by the same trustees for the union's pension fund, financed by employer payments of $9.84 for each employe.

It showed that five members, Harry Burkett, Frank Haselberger, William Muir, James Newcomb and Harry Pope are now receiving pensions from the fund.

Administration costs totaled $2,341.81, less than two per cent of the $124,982.32 paid by employers to provide pensions for their workers.

Gov. Underwood Tells Group About Russia

Addresses Md. Municipal League

FREDERICK (AP)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia suggested Friday night that Americans strengthen their own way of life rather than expend energies trying to contain Russia.

Underwood, who toured Russia this year with eight other governors, told delegates attending the Maryland Municipal League convention "we all came back with a strong feeling that we have a very serious adversary in Russia."

The governor said he noticed "Catch up with America" signs throughout Russia and was impressed by the industriousness of the Soviet people.

To combat the socialism and regimentation of Russia, Underwood said Americans should "not go to Washington for those things we should be doing ourselves."

"We as Americans must accept our responsibilities as free citizens, not just when we find it convenient," he said.

The West Virginia chief executive was made an honorary citizen of Maryland by Edmond Mester, executive assistant to Maryland's Gov. Tawes.

About 130 delegates have registered for the three-day convention which ends Saturday with the election of officers.

Before Underwood's speech Friday, the delegates heard panel discussions on several topics.

One of the speakers on municipal borrowing and investment of idle funds was G. Thomas Yaeger, representative of a Baltimore firm, Baker Watts and Co.

Abe Rosen, deputy city representative at Philadelphia, spoke on municipal public relations.

Other discussions concerned special assessments in capital construction, street lighting and street repair. In late afternoon the delegates took a tour of Frederick.

Registration Deadline Is April 16

Inactive Voters Must Sign Anew

The re-registration of 2,846 voters in Allegany County who have not cast a ballot in the past five years was clarified yesterday by John R. Kelly, chief clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors.

Earlier this month it was reported that those who have not voted since 1954 had to re-register at the local office by November 13. Actually they have until April 16 next year in which to re-register, said Mr. Kelly.

Sometime ago postal cards were sent to the 2,846 inactive voters and the aim of the office is to determine the number of persons who are in the armed forces or deceased.

Yesterday was the final day when persons can give notice of anyone deceased or in the armed forces. Many of those who received the reminder cards have probably moved from the county and many probably have died outside the county and the office has no way of determining the person's status.

Since the cards were sent out, a total of 92 persons have reregistered including 48 Democrats and 44 Republicans.

Residents of the county are also being reminded that Tuesday, November 17, is the final day a registered person may change party affiliation prior to the primary election next year.

Fike Admits Setting Fire To Elda Inn

Will Be Charged With Arson Today, Authorities Say

Emory T. Fike, 20, of near Keyser, who has admitted starting the fire which destroyed the Elda Inn on Braddock Road early yesterday morning, will be charged with arson today.

Volunteer firemen from five companies responded to fight the blaze which started about 5 a.m. The State Police at LaVale were notified of the fire by a passing motorist.

Several hours later Fike turned himself in at City Police headquarters and admitted he started the blaze which leveled the once popular roadhouse.

Fike was questioned yesterday afternoon by State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, and is being held at LaVale Barracks of the State Police.

The building was owned by Mrs. Daisy Cromwell and her son, Eldred "Al" Cromwell, who said the loss would go into thousands of dollars. The place was covered by insurance, but Mr. Cromwell said the building contained several rooms of furniture which were stored in the basement.

LaVale Fire Company reached the scene first and was hampered by the lack of water. Companies from Corriganville, Bedford Road, Bowling Green and Clarysville also answered the alarm, but were unable to bring the blaze under control.

Fike was questioned yesterday morning by Tfc. Milton Hart and told the state trooper he broke into the building Thursday night, looking for food and money. Fike told Tfc. Hart he slept for a while and then started the fire in two separate parts of the roadhouse. Fike said he had no reason for starting the fire.

Keyser Chief of Police Guy Clem said Fike also is wanted in Keyser for the burglary of a home in that section.

Forester Gives State Report At Oak Wilt Meet

Disease Prevalent In Western Maryland

Facts and figures on oak wilt infected areas in Maryland were reported during the seven-state oak wilt meeting held in the past two days at Bedford, Pa., by Dr. L. O. Weaver, state pathologist, and William H. Johnson, district forester here.

Four aerial flights were made over the entire state this past summer, according to the report, and the infected areas were confined to small plots in eastern Garrett County, all of Allegany County and the western half of Washington County.

In all a total of 49 oak wilt areas were detected and 32 areas were eradicated by a crew of the Department of Forests and Parks which set up control areas around the infected trees.

Seventeen sites in Maryland were selected by the Forest Servic of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for studying the plots, part of a three-year survey in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In order to establish effectiveness in controlling oak wilt Maryland and Pennsylvania are using the isolation strip and all oaks are removed within 50 feet of the affected tree. West Virginia's system is to girdle and kill the infected tree only.

Six study plots were set up last year in Maryland; 48 plots in West Virginia this year and last year for a two-year study, and 34 plots in Pennsylvania during the same period for a two-year study.

The report showed that the 49 new infected areas found in Maryland this year was an increase of seven over those found last year. Oak wilt was found over most of West Virginia and was largely confined to five counties in Pennsylvania, with the greatest concentration north of the infected areas in Maryland.

Kentucky reported a scattering of oak wilt, Virginia reported two infected areas and North Carolina found several counties with a small number of infections.

Mr. Johnson said the general consensus at the meeting was that there must be additional study and research done to eliminate the disease.

It is felt that the control measures taken have held in check the spread of oak wilt, he said.

Mr. Johnson said good quality oak is in high demand especially for flooring and structural timbers. There is also a demand for oak for use in furniture and barrel staves.

Other Marylanders attending the meeting at the Penn-Bedford Hotel were Thomas Dixon, forest guard of Allegany County, and H. C. Buckingham, state forester.

The postmasters were informed as to the makeup of mail for handling through the local post office.

Among those attending were postmasters from Kingwood, W. Va., Oakland, Meyersdale, Pa., Keyser and other points in the area.

Preston County Couple Gets $21,000 In Court

Separate Cases Are Concluded

A Preston County, W. Va. couple was awarded $21,000 this week by petit juries which heard two separate civil suits stemming from an auto accident May 3, 1958, in which the man's wife sustained the loss of a leg.

The damage suits were filed by Mrs. Frances Myers, of near Kingwood, for personal injuries and by her husband, Harlan Myers, for hospital and medical expenses, against Roy Adams Gower, of Kingwood, driver of the car which ran into Mrs. Myers.

Thursday the Preston County jury awarded $6,000 to the husband and on Tuesday gave $15,000 to the wife. Milford Gibson of Elkins and Neil Reed of Kingwood represented the plaintiffs and Edward Runner of Kingwood was counsel for the defendant.

Mrs. Myers was standing near the back wheel of her husband's car, which was parked off the highway, according to testimony which revealed that Gower was driving at an apparent high rate of speed, and lost control of the car which slid about 300 feet before striking the woman, causing her leg to be severed.

During the June term of court last year Gower was indicted for assault with an automobile and because of criminal negligence was sentenced to a year in the Preston County jail, James T. Dailey, Jr., prosecuting attorney, said last night.

In other court action Thursday, an indictment of manslaughter against Charles E. Davis of Arthurdale was dismissed.

Police said Davis was driving an auto which hit Melvin Blosser, a seven-year-old boy, about 8 a. m. October 16 at Cascade. The boy died in a Morgantown hospital that night.

Trooper J. E. Coleman, who investigated the accident, testified yesterday that he had made a house-to-house canvass in the area of the crash and found no one who could testify that the driver was speeding greater than the limit.

The court also held that skid marks were not evidence in the case and the charge against Mr. Davis was dropped.

Registration Deadline Is April 16

Inactive Voters Must Sign Anew

The re-registration of 2,846 voters in Allegany County who have not cast a ballot in the past five years was clarified yesterday by John R. Kelly, chief clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors.

Earlier this month it was reported that those who have not voted since 1954 had to re-register at the local office by November 13. Actually they have until April 16 next year in which to re-register, said Mr. Kelly.

Sometime ago postal cards were sent to the 2,846 inactive voters and the aim of the office is to determine the number of persons who are in the armed forces or deceased.

Yesterday was the final day when persons can give notice of anyone deceased or in the armed forces. Many of those who received the reminder cards have probably moved from the county and many probably have died outside the county and the office has no way of determining the person's status.

Since the cards were sent out, a total of 92 persons have re-registered including 48 Democrats and 44 Republicans.

Residents of the county are also being reminded that Tuesday, November 17, is the final day a registered person may change party affiliation prior to the primary election next year.
